To improve screening and early detection strategies and to develop accurate diagnostic techniques and methods for predicting the course of disease in cancer patients. Screening and Early Detection research includes development of strategies to decrease cancer mortality by finding tumors early when they are more amenable to treatment. Diagnosis research focuses on methods to determine the presence of a specific type of cancer; to predict its course and response to therapy, both a particular therapy or a class of agents; and to monitor the effect of the therapy and the appearance of disease recurrence. These methods include diagnostic imaging and direct analyses of specimens from tumor or other tissues. Support is also provided for establishing and maintaining resources of human tissue to facilitate research. Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) program: To expand and improve the SBIR program; to increase private sector commercialization of innovations derived from Federal research and development; to increase small business participation in Federal research and development; and to foster and encourage participation of socially and economically disadvantaged small business concerns and women-owned small business concerns in technological innovation. Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) program: To stimulate and foster scientific and technological innovation through cooperative research and development carried out between small business concerns and research institutions; to foster technology transfer between small business concerns and research institutions; to increase private sector commercialization of innovations derived from Federal research and development; and to foster and encourage participation of socially and economically disadvantaged small business concerns and women-owned small business concerns in technological innovation.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants and cooperative agreements may be made to eligible institutions for the support of cancer research projects. The grants and cooperative agreements may be used for personnel, consultants costs, equipment, supplies, travel, patient costs, animals, alterations and renovations, miscellaneous items, and indirect costs. SBIR Phase I grants (of approximately 6-months' duration) are to establish the technical merit and feasibility of a proposed research effort that may lead to a commercial product or process. Phase II grants are for the continuation of the research initiated in Phase I, and that are likely to result in commercial products or processes. Only Phase I awardees are eligible to receive Phase II support. STTR Phase I grants (normally of 1-year duration) are to determine the scientific, technical, and commercial merit and feasibility of the proposed cooperative effort that has potential for commercial application. Phase II funding is based on results of research initiated in Phase I and scientific and technical merit and commercial potential of Phase II application. The SBIR Fast-Track Initiative provides additional assistance to applicants by expediting the decision and award of SBIR Phase II funding for scientifically meritorious applications for projects that have a high potential for commercialization. Fast-Track is a parallel review option whereby Phase I and Phase II projects are reviewed concurrently with the aim of reducing or eliminating the funding gap between Phase I and Phase II.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The awardee will be a university, college, hospital, public agency, nonprofit research institution or organization, unit of tribal government, or a for-profit organization that submits an application and receives a grant or cooperative agreement for support of research by a named principal investigator. SBIR grants can be awarded only to domestic small businesses (entities that are independently owned and operated for profit, are not dominant in the field in which research is proposed, and have no more than 500 employees). Primary employment (more than one-half time) of the principal investigator must be with the small business at the time of award and during the conduct of the proposed project. In both Phase I and Phase II, the research must be performed in the U.S. and its possessions. To be eligible for funding, a grant application must be approved for scientific merit and program relevance by a scientific review group and a national advisory council. STTR grants can be awarded only to domestic small business concerns (entities that are independently owned and operated for profit, are not dominant in the field in which research is proposed and have no more than 500 employees) which "partner" with a research institution in cooperative research and development. At least 40 percent of the project is to be performed by the small business concern and at least 30 percent by the research institution. In both Phase I and Phase II, the research must be performed in the U.S. and its possessions. To be eligible for funding, a grant application must be approved for scientific merit and program relevance by a scientific review group and a national advisory council.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Small business; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Health Professional; Scientist/Researchers; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Any nonprofit or for-profit organization, company, or institution engaged in biomedical research.

Credentials/Documentation:

For-profit organizations' costs are determined in accordance with 48 CFR, Subpart 31.2 of the Federal Acquisition Regulations. For other grantees, costs will be determined in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR, Part 75, For SBIR and STTR grants, applicant organization (small business concern) must present in a research plan an idea that has potential for commercialization and furnish evidence that scientific competence, experimental methods, facilities, equipment, and funds requested are appropriate to carry out the plan. 93.399 Cancer Control

Cancer Control Grants,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Public Health Service Act, Sections 301, 410 and 412, Public Law 78-410, as amended, Public Law 99-500, Public Law 100-607, 42 U.S.C. 241, 42 U.S.C. 285 - 285a-1; Small Business Research and Development Enhancement Act of 1992, Public Law 102-564.

OBJECTIVES:

To reduce cancer risk, incidence, morbidity, and mortality and enhance quality of life in cancer survivors through an orderly sequence from research on interventions and their impact in defined populations to the broad, systematic application of the research results through dissemination and diffusion strategies. Primary emphasis is on the inclusion of cancer prevention and control intervention(s) in any proposed study. Cancer Prevention and Cancer Control research studies are classified into one of five phases: (1) Hypothesis development; (2) methods development and testing; (3) controlled intervention trials to establish cause-and-effect relationships; (4) research in defined populations; and (5) demonstration and implementation studies. Primary interests are in research on cancer control interventions in Phases 2 through 5, and on cancer prevention research in all phases. Cancer Prevention and Control programs include those in the following areas: (1) chemoprevention; (2) cancer communications; (3) nutrition, diet, and physical activity; (4) screening and early detection, including biomarker discovery, development and validation; (5) biobehavioral mechanisms; (6) tobacco control; (7) health disparities research; (8) supportive care and survivorship; (9) health services and outcomes research; and (10) surveillance research. Cancer Control uses Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) Programs to engage domestic small business concerns in federal research and development that has potential for commercialization. The goals of the SBIR & STTR Programs are to stimulate technological innovation, increase private-sector commercialization of federal research and development, increase small business participation in federally funded research and development, and foster participation by socially and economically disadvantaged small business concerns and women-owned small business concerns in technological innovation. The STTR Program requires the small business concern to formally collaborate with a research institution in Phase I and Phase II of the program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants and cooperative agreements may be made to eligible institutions for the support of cancer research projects. The grants and cooperative agreements may be used for personnel, consultant costs, equipment, supplies, travel, patient costs, animals, alterations and renovations, miscellaneous items, and indirect costs. Restrictions are imposed against the use of funds for entertainment, foreign travel (unless specifically authorized), office equipment, and other items not normally necessary for the effective prosecution of such research. SBIR Phase I grants (of approximately 6-months' duration) are to establish the technical merit, feasibility and commercial potential of a proposed research effort and to determine the quality of performance of the awardee. Phase II grants are for the continuation of the research initiated in Phase I, and are likely to result in commercial products or processes. Only SBIR Phase I awardees are eligible to receive Phase II support. STTR Phase I grants (normally of 1-year duration) are to determine the scientific, technical, and commercial merit and feasibility of the proposed cooperative effort that has potential for commercial application. Phase II funding is based on results of research initiated in Phase I, and the scientific and technical merit and commercial potential of the proposed Phase II project. Only STTR Phase I awardees are eligible to receive Phase II support. The NIH Fast-Track mechanism provides additional assistance to applicants by expediting the decision and award of funding for scientifically meritorious applications for projects that have a high potential for commercialization. The mechanism allows small businesses to submit applications for both Phase I and Phase II together for review as one application, with the aim of reducing or eliminating the funding gap between Phase I and Phase II.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The awardee will be a university, college, hospital, public agency, nonprofit research institution or for-profit organization that submits an application and receives a grant or cooperative agreement for support of research by a named principal investigator. SBIR grants can be awarded only to domestic small businesses (entities that are independently owned and operated for profit, are not dominant in the field in which research is proposed, and have no more than 500 employees). Primary employment (more than one-half time) of the principal investigator must be with the small business at the time of award and for the duration of the project period. In both Phase I and Phase II, the research must be performed in the U.S. and its possessions. To be eligible for funding, a grant application must be approved for scientific merit, technical merit, and program relevance by a scientific review group and a national advisory council. STTR grants can be awarded only to domestic small business concern (entities that are independently owned and operated for profit, are not dominant in the field in which research is proposed and have no more than 500 employees) which "partner" with a research institution in cooperative research and development. At least 40 percent of the project is to be performed by the small business concern and at least 30 percent by the research institution. The Principal Investigator may be primarily employed by either the small business concern or the collaborating research institution at the time of award and for the duration of the project period. In both Phase I and Phase II, the research must be performed in the U.S. and its possessions. ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program.

Award Procedure:

Phase I Review: All applications will be initially reviewed for eligibility and completeness by CDC Office of Grants Services. Complete applications will be reviewed for responsiveness by the Grants Management Officials and Program Officials. Non-responsive applications will not advance to Phase II Review. Applicants will be notified if their application does not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements. Phase II Review: An objective review panel will evaluate complete and responsive applications according to the criteria listed in the Criteria section of the NOFO. The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the category for which applicants submitted their applications. Applicants will be notified electronically if the application did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements thirty (30) days after the completion of Phase II review. Phase III Review: In addition, the following factors may affect the funding decision during Phase II Review: Priority will be given to organizations that demonstrate national scope of work. National scope of work is defined as the mandated or approved authority to work across the 10 HHS Regions. Evidence of a national scope of work must be reflected in the applicant's articles of incorporation, bylaws, or signed board resolutions indicating approval to work on a national level. An additional 15 points will be added to the final score of applications that demonstrate national scope. Preference will be given to avoid duplication of CBA services to the same target populations. Preference may be given to the funding of applicants that propose to provide CBA services to target populations not served by higher ranking applicants. Preference will be given to ensure funding of organizations that provide CBA services to target populations not duplicated in other CDC funding mechanisms. CDC will provide justification for any decision to fund outside of ranked order of scores. Final funding determinations for core-funding will be based on application scores from the objective review panels and consideration for CDC's funding preferences. Phase IV: Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans Organizations that are selected for core funding under the Phase III Review and Selection process will be eligible to submit Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans as part of a supplement to OT18-1802. Organizations will be eligible to submit proposals based on the Target Population Category and Target Population for which they were selected to provide CBA under the OT18-1802 initial competition. The supplement package detailing the CIO Project Plans and the submission process will be posted to grants.gov following selection and notification of organizations that will receive core funding. The award recipients will submit stand-alone proposals in response to a range of CBA projects that represent public health disciplinary areas and cross-cutting disciplines and/or topics. CIO Project Plans may also include limited CBA to international public health constituents where there is a benefit to U.S. public health efforts or to the U.S. public health system. Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will be reviewed for eligibility, completeness and merit. Once submitted, all Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will be initially reviewed for eligibility and completeness by the CDC Office of Grants Services and the Partnership Support Unit. Complete applications will be reviewed for responsiveness by the Grants Management Officials and Program Officials. Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans that are deemed non-responsive will not advance to the merit review. Organizations will be notified that their applications did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements. Merit review of Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will involve an objective or technical review that evaluates complete, eligible proposals using criteria aligned with the three broad sections described earlier in the NOFO: Approach Evaluation and Performance Measurement Applicants Organizational Capacity Merit reviews that require an objective review will be evaluated using the scoring criteria set forth in the OT18-1802 Supplement. In the event a technical review is more efficient for the Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans (i.e., there is one proposal submitted for a particular CIO Project Plan), the technical review will be held in place of an objective review. Final funding determinations of Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans that require an objective review will be based on proposal scores from the merit review. When a technical review is used, Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will not be scored. The proposals will receive feedback and guidance regarding required revisions in place of scoring.

Enables the assessment of the overall effectiveness and impact of the NOFO. For organizations that receive PPHF funding, additional reporting is required. These requirements will be communicated to awardees post-award. As described below, awardees must submit one report per year; ongoing performance measures data, administrative reports, and a final performance and financial report. REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

Regulations governing the application process for State Innovation Waivers can be found at the Federal Register at 77 Fed. Reg. 11700 (Feb. 27, 2012). Among other things, these regulations provide guidance on how to apply for a waiver and what an application from a state must contain, including actuarial and economic analyses. The regulations detail public notice and comment requirements that a state must comply with before an application is submitted, including holding public hearings, in order to facilitate a meaningful level of public involvement, input, and transparency in the state application process. They also describe the Federal public notice and comment process that will occur after a completed application has been received. The regulations also describe the requirements for post-award reporting and the standards under which post-award monitoring will take place. In December of 2015, the Departments of Health and Human Services and Treasury (Departments) released Federal Register guidance at 80 Fed. Reg. 11700 (December 16, 2015) that provided additional information on PPACA Section 1332s statutory requirements. On May 11, 2017, Departments posted a 1332 waiver application checklist to help states as they develop and complete the required elements of their applications. This checklist follows a March 2017 letter from U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Price to all states encouraging the use of innovative strategies to strengthen their health insurance markets.

Investing in CBA is expected to help public health agencies and other public health components fulfill their mission of protecting and promoting health in their communities and effectively performing essential public health services. Some of the capacity building needs are in the following areas: Improving the public health workforce (e.g., e-learning, other training, and fellowship programs); vital statistics systems (electronic birth and death registration); food and water borne disease identification and prevention, prevention of hospital acquired infections, electronic health record/IT systems, communications systems and processes (e.g. information syndication and social media capacity), and laboratory and epidemiologic capacity. The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the Category and CIO project for which applicants submitted proposals. In the event a technical review is more efficient (i.e., there is one proposal submitted for a particular CIO project), the technical review will be held in place of an objective review. Final funding determinations will be based on application scores from the objective review (and technical review) panels.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

published submission requirements. Phase II Review: An objective review panel will evaluate complete and responsive applications according to the criteria listed in the Criteria section of the NOFO. The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the category for which applicants submitted their applications. Applicants will be notified electronically if the application did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements thirty (30) days after the completion of Phase II review. Phase III Review: In addition, the following factors may affect the funding decision during Phase II Review: Priority will be given to organizations that demonstrate national scope of work. National scope of work is defined as the mandated or approved authority to work across the 10 HHS Regions. Evidence of a national scope of work must be reflected in the applicant's articles of incorporation, bylaws, or signed board resolutions indicating approval to work on a national level. An additional 15 points will be added to the final score of applications that demonstrate national scope. Preference will be given to avoid duplication of CBA services to the same target populations. Preference may be given to the funding of applicants that propose to provide CBA services to target populations not served by higher ranking applicants. Preference will be given to ensure funding of organizations that provide CBA services to target populations not duplicated in other CDC funding mechanisms. CDC will provide justification for any decision to fund outside of ranked order of scores. Final funding determinations for core-funding will be based on application scores from the objective review panels and consideration for CDC's funding preferences. Phase IV: Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans Organizations that are selected for core funding under the Phase III Review and Selection process will be eligible to submit Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans as part of a supplement to OT18-1802. Organizations will be eligible to submit proposals based on the Target Population Category and Target Population for which they were selected to provide CBA under the OT18-1802 initial competition. The supplement package detailing the CIO Project Plans and the submission process will be posted to grants.gov following selection and notification of organizations that will receive care funding. The award recipients will submit stand-alone proposals in response to a range of CBA projects that represent public health disciplinary areas and cross-cutting disciplines and/or topics. CIO Project Plans may also include limited CBA to international public health constituents where there is a benefit to U.S. public health efforts or to the U.S. public health system. Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will be reviewed for eligibility, completeness and merit. Once submitted, all Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will be initially reviewed for eligibility and completeness by the CDC Office of Grants Services and the Partnership Support Unit. Complete applications will be reviewed for responsiveness by the Grants Management Officials and Program Officials. Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans that are deemed non-responsive will not advance to the merit review. Organizations will be notified that their applications did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements. Merit review of Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will involve an objective or technical review that evaluates complete, eligible proposals using criteria aligned with the three broad sections described earlier in the NOFO: Approach, Evaluation and Performance Measurement. Applicants Organizational Capacity Merit reviews that require an objective review will be evaluated using the scoring criteria set forth in the OT18-1802 Supplement. In the event a technical review is more efficient for the Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans (i.e., there is one proposal submitted for a particular CIO Project Plan), the technical review will be held in place of an objective review. Final funding determinations of Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans that require an objective review will be based on proposal scores from the merit review. When a technical review is used, Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans will not be scored. The proposals will receive feedback and guidance regarding required revisions in place of scoring.

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

This program is authorized under sections 201(a), 317(k)(2) of the Public Health Service Act, [42 U.S.C. 241(a) and 247b(k)(2), as amended.

OBJECTIVES:

The Office on Smoking and Health and Division of Cancer Prevention and Control seek to build on the progress of the previously funded networks and expand work to address tobacco-and cancer- related health disparities among populations particularly vulnerable to tobacco industry marketing tactics and with higher cancer incidence and death rates. To accelerate the decline in cigarette smoking, address other tobacco use, and reduce the burden of cancer disease and death among the entire population, it will be critical to continue to focus prevention and control efforts on those populations that are most vulnerable and harder to reach with general population interventions. The complex interaction of multiple factors (e.g. socioeconomic status, cultural characteristics, acculturation, inequitable policy implementation and enforcement, stress) and persistent and targeted tobacco industry marketing to these vulnerable populations, contribute to tobacco related disparities. Many factors also contribute to cancer-related disparities such as socioeconomic status, cultural characteristics, diet, and access to healthcare services. Continued efforts to address the unique need for population-specific capacity and infrastructure to support tobacco and cancer control strategies and promote access to tobacco cessation services, cancer prevention, and treatment and survivor resources for populations experiencing disparities are justified. This tailored strategy is designed to achieve the benefits of an overall population-based policy approach to commercial tobacco and cancer control.

Section 9212 of the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), PL 114-95 establishes the Preschool Development Grants (PDG). This grant seeks to assist States in helping low-income and disadvantaged children enter Kindergarten prepared and ready to succeed in school and to help improve the transitions from the early care and education setting to elementary school. The overall responsibility of the ESSA PDG is to assist States in the coordination of their existing early childhood service delivery models and funding streams - for the purpose of serving more children birth through age five in a mixed delivery model. The ESSA PDG has three targeted purposes. It aims to: "(1) assist States to develop, update, or implement a strategic plan that facilitates collaboration and coordination among existing programs of early childhood care and education in a mixed delivery system across the State designed to prepare low-income and disadvantaged children to enter kindergarten and to improve transitions from such system into the local educational agency or elementary school that enrolls such children, by(A) more efficiently using existing Federal, State, local, and non-governmental resources to align and strengthen the delivery of existing programs, (B) coordinating the delivery models and funding streams existing in the State's mixed delivery system; and (C) developing recommendations to better use existing resources in order to improve-- (i) the overall participation of children in a mixed delivery system of Federal, State, and local early childhood education programs;(ii) program quality while maintaining availability of services;(iii) parental choice among existing programs; and (iv) school readiness for children from low- income and disadvantaged families, including during such children's transition into elementary school;(2) encourage partnerships among Head Start providers, State and local governments, Indian tribes and tribal organizations, private entities (including faith- and community- based entities), and local educational agencies, to improve coordination, program quality, and delivery of services; and(3) maximize parental choice among a mixed delivery system of early childhood education program providers." [Public Law 114-95, Sec 9212 (a)(1-3)]The Administration for Children and Families (ACF) at the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) in consultation with the Department of Education (ED) will be soliciting applications from eligible States to carry out the activities of the ESSA PDG. The new ESSA PDG program seeks to empower State governments to lead the way in leveraging Federal, State and local early care and education investments. States are not to create another early childhood program, but rather help coordinate early childhood programs and services that already exist in the State according to the identified needs of the State. The ESSA PDG is a competitive grant authorized for up to four years - a 1 year initial grant and a renewal grant of up to 3 years. Annual funding for the program is contingent upon annual Congressional appropriation.

93.505 Affordable Care Act (ACA) Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program

MIECHV Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

HEALTH RESOURCES AND SERVICES ADMINISTRATION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act, Title V, Section 511 (42 U.S.C. 711)

OBJECTIVES:

The Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program (MIECHV Program) is designed : (1) to strengthen and improve the programs and activities carried out under Title V; (2) to improve coordination of services for at risk communities; and (3) to identify and provide comprehensive services to improve outcomes for families who reside in at risk communities. The MIECHV Program was created to support voluntary, evidence-based home visiting services for at-risk pregnant women and parents with young children up to kindergarten entry. The program builds upon decades of scientific research that shows home visits conducted by a nurse, social worker, early childhood educator, or other trained professional during pregnancy and in the first years of a child's life improves the lives of children and families. Home visiting helps prevent child abuse and neglect, supports positive parenting, improves maternal and child health, and promotes child development and school readiness.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

1. The statute reserves the majority of funding for the delivery of services through use of one or more evidence-based home visiting service delivery models. In addition, it supports continued innovation by allowing up to 25 percent of total funds awarded for the fiscal year to support service delivery through promising approaches that do not yet qualify as evidence-based models. Assistance can potentially be used for enhancing awardees infrastructure for improving coordination of services for at-risk communities and identifying and providing comprehensive services to improve outcomes for families who reside in at-risk communities, as well as for implementing awardees home visiting service programs. To ensure that the required statutory distribution is maintained, all MIECHV programs must demonstrate that they are being delivered in conformity with the approved service delivery models. This fidelity is demonstrated by programs that have the requisite designation and/or approval from a model developer to provide evidence-based home visiting services. MIECHV-funded programs must maintain the requisite designation and/or approval from the model developer while receiving MIECHV funding. 2. Restrictions: No more than 10 percent of the award amount may be spent on costs associated with administering the award, this restriction does not apply to subrecipients. Funds made available to a recipient for a fiscal year shall remain available for expenditure by the recipient through the end of the second succeeding fiscal year after award. Funds that have not been expended during the period of availability will be deobligated and no longer available for use by the recipient.

Applicant Eligibility:

U.S. Territories and possessions; State; Eligibility for funding is limited to a single application from each State, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands, the Northern Mariana Islands, and American Samoa. For those states that have elected not to participate in MIECHV, nonprofit organizations with an established record of providing early childhood home visiting programs or initiatives in a state or several states are eligible to apply to carry out programs in those states.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicants should review each of the individual funding opportunity announcements listed under this CFDA program for additional application procedures. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

For the Tribal HV program: each application will be screened to determine whether it was received by the closing date and time and whether the requested amount exceeds the award ceiling. Applications that are designated as late or those with requests that exceed the award ceiling will be returned to the applicant with a notation that they were deemed non-responsive and will not be reviewed. Applications competing for financial assistance will be reviewed and evaluated by objective review panels using the criteria described in the funding opportunity announcement. Each panel is made up of experts with knowledge and experience in the area under review. Generally, review panels are composed of three reviewers and one chairperson. Results of the competitive objective review are taken into consideration by ACF in the selection of projects for funding; however, objective review scores and rankings are not binding and are one element of the decision-making process. ACF may elect to not fund applicants with management or financial problems that would indicate an inability to successfully complete the proposed project. Applications may be funded in whole or in part. Successful applicants may be funded at an amount lower than that requested. ACF reserves the right to consider a preference to fund organizations serving emerging, unserved, or under-served populations, including those located in pockets of poverty, and to consider the geographic distribution of Federal funds in its funding decisions. ACF may refuse funding for projects with what it regards as unreasonably high start-up costs for facilities or equipment, or for projects with unreasonably high operating costs. In addition, federal staff will conduct an administrative review of the applications and the results of the competitive review and will make recommendations for funding to the Director, Office of Child Care (OCC). With the results of the competitive review and information from federal staff, the Director of OCC, in consultation with Deputy Assistant Secretary and Inter-Departmental Liaison for Early Childhood Development, will make the final funding decisions. For the TRCEC, grant awards are subject to the availability of Federal funds. Note that funds for the Tribal MIECHV are not appropriated for the full length of the specified project period. The Federal share of project costs for any of the 12-month budget periods, inclusive of indirect costs will be from the Tribal MIECHV Program, Office of Child Care or Head Start research funds). No grant award will be made under this announcement on the basis of an incomplete application. No grant award will be made to an applicant or sub-recipient that does not have active SAM registration. Applications recommended for approval that were not funded under the competition because of the lack of available funds, may be held over by ACF and re-considered in a subsequent review cycle if a future competition under the program area is planned. These applications will be held over for a period of up to one year and will be re-competed for funding with all other competing applications in the next available review cycle. For those applications that have been deemed as approved but unfunded, a notice will be given of such determination.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

For the TRCEC, successful applicants will be notified through the issuance of a Notice of Award (NoA) document that sets forth the amount of funds granted, the terms and conditions of the grant, the effective date of the grant, the budget period for which initial support will be given, the non-Federal share to be provided (if applicable), and the total project period for which support is contemplated. The NoA will be signed by the Grants Officer and transmitted. Following the finalization of funding decisions, organizations whose applications will not be funded will be notified by letter, signed by the Program Office head. Other correspondence announcing to a Principal Investigator or Project Director that an application was selected is not an authorization to begin performance. OBJECTIVES:

The Prevention and Public Health Fund (Title IV, Section 4002) was established under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act to provide for expanded and sustained national investment in prevention and public health programs to improve health and help restrain the rate of growth in private and public sector health care costs. The Epidemiology and Laboratory Capacity for Infectious Diseases (ELC) and Emerging Infections Program (EIP) cooperative agreements were formed in 1995 as key components of CDC's national strategy to address and reduce emerging infectious disease (EID) threats. The programs play a critical role in strengthening national infectious disease infrastructure by serving as collaborative platforms for state and local health departments, CDC programs, and academic and various other public health partners to improve the ability to detect and respond to EIDs and other public health threats. Specifically, the programs build epidemiology, laboratory, and information systems capacity, integrate epidemiology and laboratory practice, implement active surveillance, and conduct targeted research aimed at improving methods and informing national surveillance and response activities. Overall, additional funds from multiple sources including PPHF will allow ELC and EIP partner agencies to substantially address gaps in EID epidemiology and laboratory capacity (e.g. number and training level of epi and lab staff, efficient/functional information systems, etc).

Fiscal Year 2017: The ultimate goal of the Epidemiology and Laboratory Capacity (ELC) Cooperative Agreement is to prevent and control the spread of infectious disease threats to reduce illness and deaths. ELC provides annual funding to domestic public health agencies to support capacity building and infectious disease program delivery. ELCs current funding cycle (August 1, 2018 through July 31, 2019) is the final year of the current 5-year cooperative agreement. In federal fiscal year 2018 (FY18), the ELC program awarded over $200 million to 64 domestic public health departments. This crucial investment has grown to become one of CDCs key nationwide cooperative agreements that supports state and local capacity for: Building and maintaining effective public health workforce for rapid response to infectious disease outbreaks; Strengthening national surveillance systems; Modernizing public health laboratory capacity; Improving health information systems to efficiently transmit, receive, and analyze infectious disease-related data electronically.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

93.524 Building Capacity of the Public Health System to Improve Population Health through National, Non-Profit Organizations- financed in part by Prevention and Public Health Funds (PPHF)

CBA to Strengthen Public Health Infrastructure and Performance,
FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

This program is authorized under sections 301 and 317 of the Public Health Service Act (PHS Act), 42 U.S.C. 241 and 247b as amended, and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148), Title IV, Section 4002 (Prevention and Public Health Fund), Title IV, Section 4002, Public Law 111-148, 42 USC Code 242,247.

OBJECTIVES:

This program will cover projects under two funding initiatives: 1) specific capacity building activities (CBA) under PPHF; and 2) CBA activities under an umbrella cooperative agreement for unique target populations. Applicant organizations will have the opportunity to compete for PPHF supported projects as well as high priority CDC projects. This program will assist state, tribal, local and U.S. territorial health departments, and other components of the public health system by making available to them capacity building assistance (including technical consultation, skills building/training, information, and technology transfer assistance) that will result in: systems and organizational efficiencies; a capable and qualified workforce; state-of-the-art information technology systems and integrated and standardized community and population data; improved planning, implementation and evaluation of evidence-based public health policies, laws, programs and services; results driven local and national public and private partnerships; and increased availability and accessibility of public health resources, such as publications, educational materials, syndicated website material, training curricula, assessments and evaluation tools, and other products for improvement of public health agencies and other agencies in the public health system. The overall goal of capacity building assistance is to ensure improvements in the public health infrastructure so that it is prepared for responding to both acute and chronic threats relating to the Nations health such as emerging infections, disparities in health status, and increases in chronic disease and injury rates. Capacity building assistance will focus on the provision of technical consultation, skills building/training, and information and technology transfer assistance to ensure successful planning, implementation, coordination and evaluation of the key areas for public health infrastructure investments. CBA may also be provided for CDC-funded projects which may include limited CBA to international public health agencies where there is a benefit to US public health efforts or to the US public health system. Investing in CBA is expected to help public health agencies and other public health components fulfill their mission of protecting and promoting health in their communities and effectively performing essential public health services. Some of the capacity building needs are in the following areas: Improving the public health workforce (e.g., e-learning, other training, and fellowship programs); vital statistics systems (electronic birth and death registration); food and water borne disease identification and prevention, prevention of hospital acquired infections, electronic health record/IT systems, communications systems and processes (e.g. information syndication and social media capacity), and laboratory and epidemiologic capacity. Developing information systems to support adoption, implementation, enforcement, and/or evaluation of public health legislation, codes, rules, regulations, ordinances, and other policies. Improving public health system development/redevelopment by building or re-engineering infrastructure to improve networking, coordination, standardization, and centralization of public health services to effectively and efficiently address priority health indicators. Implementing best health care practices and conducting impact evaluation. Improving information and data system capacity through policy/communication for standardized data collection and analysis systems, information management technology, information dissemination, and meaningful data use and translation

Improving organizational capacity to effectively and efficiently use resources such as fiscal agents, and intermediaries, and Improving technical and program guidance and evaluation of preventive services to expand coverage for community and clinical preventive services. This includes technical consultation and promotion on the adoption and utilization of the recommendations from the Guide for Community Preventive Services.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Project funds will be used for costs associated with providing capacity building assistance to strengthen the infrastructure of State, Tribal, Local, and Territorial public health agencies and other components of the public health system. For the purposes of this program, other components of the public health system refers to specific professional constituencies (i.e., epidemiologists, community health nurses, health education and promotion specialists tribal health leaders, chronic disease directors, health information specialists, Medicaid/Medicare Directors, state/local public health financial officials, etc.) or key components of the public health system (i.e., community and neighborhood health centers, public health and primary care delivery systems, community and faith-based organizations, public health and accreditation boards, public health institutes, primary care residency programs, health insurance consortia, family/social services programs, maternal/child health associations, etc.).

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Non-Government - General; 1. Eligible Applicants: Organizations with nonprofit 501(c)(3) or nonprofit 501(c)(6) IRS status (other than institutions of higher education). 2. Special Eligibility Requirements: The applicant organization must provide evidence of national scope of work and of public health charge or mission. 3. Justification for Less than Maximum Competition: The program leadership in the Office of State, Tribal, Local and Territorial Support (OSTLTS) determined that in order to achieve its strategic priorities for strengthening the public health infrastructure and advancing the quality of public health decision making, OSTLTS will need to expand its capacity building assistance (CBA) efforts through national, non-profit organizations with experience and expertise providing capacity building assistance to governmental and non-governmental components of the public health system. Eligible applicants are limited to national, non-profit professional public health mission organizations with experience and expertise providing capacity building assistance (CBA) to governmental and non-governmental components of the public health system. The CDC is requesting the provision of capacity building assistance (CBA) to public health agencies and other public health entities across the United States and its territories in order to strengthen public health practice to improve health for all populations. These national public health mission organizations are the only entities positioned to effectively and efficiently execute on the expected capacity building outcomes, outputs, and activities outlined in the FOA. The characteristics that position these organizations are: 1) designated mission and experience working nationally, 2) demonstrated infrastructure, experience and expertise providing CBA, and 3) relationship to the public health system workforce across the United States and Territories. Therefore, eligibility is limited to the above specified types of applicants/organizations that are expected to demonstrate significant experience and expertise providing capacity building assistance (CBA) to the target populations described in the attached OT13-1302 FOA. This expertise is necessary for the grantee to effectively and efficiently complete the related activities and achieve the program outcomes described in the funding opportunity announcement. Additionally the following capacities will facilitate the completion of projects in the specified timeframe:  Infrastructure to organize, conduct work and disseminate key outcomes.  Communicate key information to organization members, stakeholders and the public health community on a regular basis.  Leverage a wide array of resources among organization members and the public health community to expeditiously achieve results in a cost-effective manner.  Interact with other public health organizations; act as a networking hub to build the capacity of governmental and non-governmental components of the public health system.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Anyone/general public; State; Local; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Beneficiaries include state health departments; tribal health organizations; local health departments; the District of Columbia; U.S. Territories;

Award Procedure:

1. Phase I Review: All eligible applications will be initially reviewed for completeness by CDC's Procurement and Grants Office (PGO) staff. In addition, eligible applications will be jointly reviewed for responsiveness by CDC/OSTLTS and PGO. Incomplete applications and applications that are non-responsive to the eligibility criteria will not advance to Phase II review. Applicants will be notified if the application did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements. 2. Phase II (Initial Base-Funding) Review: An objective review panel will evaluate complete and responsive applications according to the criteria listed in the Criteria section of the FOA. The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the category for which applicants submitted their applications. Applicants will be notified electronically if the application did not meet eligibility and/or published submission requirements thirty (30) days after the completion of Phase II review. 3. Phase III Review: In addition, the following factors may affect the funding decision during Phase II (Initial Base-Funding Competition) Review: a. Preference to avoid duplication of CBA services to the same target populations. b. Preference may be given to the funding of applicants that propose to provide CBA services to target populations not served by higher ranking applicants. c. Preference will be given to ensure funding of organizations that provide CBA services to target populations not duplicated in other CDC funding mechanisms. CDC will provide justification for any decision to fund outside of ranked order of scores. Final funding determinations will be based on application scores from the objective review panels and consideration for CDC's funding preferences. 4. Phase IV (Secondary CIO-Funding) Review: Applicants that are successful in Phase II (Initial Base-Funding) Review and are awarded funds will be eligible to participate in the Phase IV (Secondary CIO-Funding) Review for CDC-wide public health projects. Eligible awardees will receive an application packet detailing the Phase IV (Secondary CIO-Funding) application submission process upon receipt of the Phase II (Initial-Base Funding) Notice of Award. The awardees must submit stand-alone applications in response to a range of CBA projects that represent public health disciplinary areas and cross-cutting disciplines and/or topics. CIO-funded projects may also include limited CBA to international public health constituents where there is a benefit to U.S. public health efforts or to the U.S. public health system. The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the Category and CIO project for which applicants submitted proposals. In the event a technical review is more efficient (i.e., there is one proposal submitted for a particular CIO project), the technical review will be held in place of an objective review. Final funding determinations will be based on application scores from the objective review (and technical review) panels.

93.540 Affordable Care Act Streamlined surveillance for ventilator-associated pneumonia: Reducing burden and demonstrating preventability; and Prevention and Public Health Fund

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

This program is authorized under Sections 317, 317(k)(2), 318 and 318B of the Public health Service Act (42 U.S.C. Sections 247b, 247b(k)(2) and 247c), as amended; and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PL 111-148), Title IV, Sections 4002, (Prevention and Public Health Fund) for expanded and sustained national investment in prevention and public health programs, IV USC Code 4002.

OBJECTIVES:

Ventilator-associated pneumonia (VAP) is one of the most common and deadly healthcare-associated infections (HAIs). Program activities under this funding will facilitate a study to demonstrate the utility and relevance of sVAP and promote acceptance of sVAP within the critical care community. Implementation of a new, reliable, valid, clinically credible and potentially automatable VAP surveillance definition will provide the foundation for national surveillance and prevention efforts and for pay-for-reporting and pay-for-performance programs, leading to improved patient safety and fewer complications for patients needing mechanical ventilation. Specifically, the objectives of this project are to: 1. Implement prospective sVAP surveillance in 9 acute-care hospitals currently conducting VAP surveillance using existing National Healthcare Safety Network (NHSN) definitions; 2. Compare the total sVAP surveillance burden to the total burden associated with use of existing NHSN VAP definitions; and 3. Implement an evidence-based VAP prevention initiative and evaluate sVAP preventability by assessing the association between sVAP rates and prevention measure compliance rates. Nine hospitals currently engaged in NHSN VAP surveillance will be recruited.

93.545 Consumer Operated and Oriented Plan [CO-OP] Program

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA), Section 1322.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide assistance to applicants for activities related to establishing and maintaining a Consumer Operated and Oriented (CO-OP), nonprofit health insurance issuer. Please refer to the Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) for additional information

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Loans

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Section 1322 of The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA), calls for the establishment and continuation of the CO-OP Program, which will foster the creation and maintenance of qualified nonprofit health insurance issuers to offer competitive health plans in the individual and small group markets. The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (ATRA) rescinded, as of the date of enactment, ninety percent of the unobligated balance under Section 1322 of the PPACA, transferred the remaining ten percent of the unobligated balance to the Consumer Operated and Oriented Plan Program Contingency Fund, and rescinded authority to further issue CO-OP loans. As of the date of the rescission, CO-OP loan agreements had closed with 24 CO-OP borrowers. The loan agreement with one of those borrowers was terminated in 2013 before the entity had obtained an insurance license. The other 23 borrowers became licensed. Between 2015 and 2017, nineteen of them have ceased operations and gone into state-supervised receivership or liquidation, or otherwise left the program after settling all debt obligations to the government. Although CMS no longer has the authority to make loans to new borrowers, Section 644 of ATRA authorizes CMS to continue to provide assistance and oversight to existing CO-OPs as they work to achieve program milestones and maintain viable CO-OPs in each state in which they operate. No further funding is available to borrowers under the original Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) published on December 9, 2011, Number OO-COO-001. The CO-OP Program awards two types of loans: Start-up Loans: Start-up Loans are intended to assist applicants with the start-up costs associated with establishing a new health insurance issuer, such as: renting or developing administrative technology systems; renting or developing provider networks; hiring counsel and consultants to assist with State licensure requirements; hiring actuaries and management staff; conducting community and prospective member education; developing strategic plans to build enrollment; developing plans for quality improvement, member and provider services, and grievances and appeals systems with feedback loops to improve operations; establishing and participating in a private purchasing council; and other start-up costs. Start-up Loans cannot be used to fund costs associated with construction of facilities, including clinical facilities, nor can Start-up Loans be used for clinical expenses, such as provider salaries or payments, provider clinical space or administrative staff associated with clinical functions, and clinical equipment. These items are intended to be covered by the premiums and reflected in the reimbursement to providers. Funds drawn from Start-up Loans must be repaid within five years of disbursement. Solvency Loans: Solvency Loans are intended to assist eligible entities with meeting the solvency and capitalization requirements of states in which they do business. Funds drawn from Solvency Loans must be repaid within 15 of disbursement. Loan recipients must use the loans awarded under the CO-OP program to fund the activities proposed and approved in the loan recipients application, consistent with the terms of the CO-OPs loan agreement with CMS. Loan recipients are prohibited from using the loans awarded under the CO-OP program to conduct marketing or carry on propaganda and other activities attempting to influence legislation. Additional information on both start-up and solvency loans can be found in the original FOA for this program, to acquire details on each type of loan and the requirements for each type of loans use and repayment.

Applicant Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); To be eligible to apply for a loan under the CO-OP program, an applicant must: 1. Intend to become a CO-OP; 2. Have formed a private nonprofit member organization (see Section IV.B of the FOA for acceptable evidence of certified nonprofit status); 3. Submit in its loan application an Eligibility Affidavit and Application Certification signed by the applicants Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer, or an officer of the applicants Board of Directors, certifying the accuracy, completeness, and truthfulness of all information contained in the loan application; and certifying that, if the applicant organization is awarded loan(s) under this FOA, it will repay them according to the terms laid out in this FOA, finalized in 45 CFR part 156 subpart F, and in the Loan Agreement issued when the award is announced. The signatory must be legally authorized to bind the CO-OP. For a description of the Eligibility Affidavit and Application Certification, see Section IV.B.10. 4. Commit to offering a CO-OP qualified health plan at the silver and gold benefit levels in every individual market Exchange that serves the geographic regions in which it is licensed and intends to provide health care coverage; and 5. If choosing to offer at least one plan in the small group market outside the Exchange, commit to offering a CO-OP qualified health plan at both the silver and gold benefit levels in each Small Business Health Options Program (SHOP) that serves the geographic regions in which the organization offers coverage in the small group market; and 6. Commit that at least two-thirds of the contracts issued by the CO-OP will be CO-OP qualified health plans offered in the individual market or individual and small group markets of the States in which the CO-OP is licensed

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Small business; Anyone/general public; Not applicable.

93.558 Temporary Assistance for Needy Families

(TANF).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act, Title IV, Part A, 42 USC Code 601 et seq..

OBJECTIVES:

To provide grants to States, Territories, the District of Columbia, and Federally-recognized Indian Tribes operating their own Tribal TANF programs to assist needy families with children so that children can be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives; end the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage; prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies; and encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Dissemination of Technical Information, Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

TANF funds monthly cash assistance payments to low-income families with children, as well as a wide range of services that are reasonably calculated to address the programs four broad purposes. States, Territories, the District of Columbia, and Federally-recognized Indian Tribes operating their own TANF programs have flexibility to use the grant funds in any manner that meets the purposes of the program and in ways that States and Territories were authorized to use funds received under the predecessor Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training (JOBS), and Emergency Assistance (EA) programs. States and Territories may also transfer a limited portion of their assistance grant funds to the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) and Social Services Block Grant (SSBG) Programs. Not more than 15 percent of any State grant may be spent on administrative costs, exclusive of certain computerization and information technology expenses. Cash grants, work opportunities, and other services are made directly to needy families with children. For Tribal programs, ACF will negotiate a limitation on administrative costs for the first year of the program's operation not to exceed 35 percent, for the second year of the program's operation not to exceed 30 percent, and then for the third and subsequent years of the program's operation not to exceed 25 percent.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions; State; In general, all States, Territories, the District of Columbia, and all Federally-recognized Tribes in the lower 48 States and 13 specified entities in Alaska are eligible. State and local agencies and Tribes that operate TANF programs must do so under plans determined to be complete (or for Tribes approved) by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). For Contingency Funds, all States and the District of Columbia are eligible if they are determined to be a "needy State" by satisfying criteria related to the state's unemployment rate or the average number of participants in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (or SNAP, formerly known as food stamps). Territories and Tribes are not eligible for Contingency Funds.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Individual/Family; State; Local; Low Income; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Needy families with children, as determined eligible by the State, Territory, or Tribe in accordance with the State or Tribal plan submitted to HHS.

Credentials/Documentation:

Federal funds go to the State, Territory, or Tribal agency certified by the Chief Executive Officer. Needy families must meet State or Tribal eligibility requirements. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia must develop a State plan and include the certifications signed by the Executive Officer (Governor). Applicants must consult with local governments and private organizations and provide them 45 days to comment on the plan. The State plan and certifications must be submitted to the Secretary of HHS. Tribes may apply to the Secretary to receive funds and to administer the TANF block grant. Tribes would submit a 3-year family assistance plan. The Secretary, in consultation with the Tribe, would set program requirements and time-limits for receipt of welfare-related services, consistent with the purposes of the program and economic conditions/resources of each Tribe. Tribes should contact the OFA Regional TANF Program Manager for further Tribal plan submittal procedures. For Contingency Funds, each State must request these funds monthly for each month they meet either the unemployment or SNAP triggers.

Award Procedure:

Once a plan is determined complete, or in the case of a Tribe the plan is approved, by HHS, Family Assistance Grants are awarded in quarterly payments. Supplemental Grants are also awarded in quarterly payments. Contingency Fund awards will be made monthly.

Deadlines:

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990, as amended, 42 USC Code 9857.

OBJECTIVES:

The Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) is the primary federal funding source to help certain low-income families access child care and to improve the quality of child care for all children. As a block grant, CCDF gives funding to states, territories, and tribes to provide child care subsidies primarily through vouchers or certificates to low-income families. In addition, CCDF funds are used to improve the quality of child care for both subsidized and unsubsidized children. The CCDF consists of two funding streams: the mandatory Child Care Entitlement (CCE) (see CFDA 93.596) and the discretionary Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG). The CCE portion consists of matching funds, which require a state match and maintenance of effort, and mandatory funds. CCDBG was created by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-508) and is subject to annual appropriations. The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (PRWORA) of 1996 (P.L. 104-193) consolidated funding for child care under the Social Security Act, where CCE is authorized, and made such funding generally subject to the requirements of the CCDBG Act. The Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 2014 (P.L. 113-186) reauthorized the discretionary portion of CCDF through FY 2020 and made significant changes to improve the health, safety, and quality of child care and provide more continuous child care assistance to low-income children and families. The combination of the discretionary and mandatory funds provides about $8.1 billion in federal funding per year for child care. Additional funding is provided by state matching and maintenance of effort funds, as well as funds transferred from the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

In the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2018 (P.L. 115-141), Congress directs that funds appropriated for the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG or Discretionary Funds) must be used to supplement, not supplant, State general revenue funds for child care assistance for low-income families. Lead Agencies must use Discretionary Funds for child care services on a sliding fee scale basis and for quality improvement activities. A portion of the Discretionary Funds is also designated for the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services to carry-out research, demonstration, and evaluation projects, provide technical assistance through the use of contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, or interagency agreements. The Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2018 provided an increase of $2.4 billion in CCDF discretionary funds for a total CCDF appropriation of $8.143 billion. The increase in funds will support states, territories and tribes as they continue to implement CCDF reauthorization efforts and meet the goals as outlined in the Act, including: ensuring health and safety standards are met; improving the quality of child care; increasing provider payment rates; and expanding working families access to quality and affordable child care.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions; State; Eligibility: All 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and Federally recognized Tribal Governments and consortia.

A Lead Agency shall re-determine a child's eligibility for child care services no sooner than 12 months following the initial determination or most recent re-determination. Once determined eligible, children are expected to receive a minimum of 12 months of child care services, unless family income rises above

Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2008, Statue 121-2212, Public Law 110-161, Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000, Public Law 106-386, Refugee Act of 1980, Section 412, Statue 94-111, Public Law 96-212, 8 USC Code 1522, Refugee Education Assistance Act of 1982, Title V, Statue 94-1809, Public Law 96-422, 8 USC Code 1522, Defense Authorization Act, 2008, Statue 122-398, Public Law 110-181

OBJECTIVES:

To develop alternative projects which promote early employment of refugees, certain Amerasians from Vietnam, Cuban and Haitian entrants, asylees, victims of a severe form of trafficking, and Iraqi and Afghan Special Immigrants. Wilson-Fish grantees may develop innovative approaches for the provision of refugee cash and medical assistance, otherwise available through the State-administered program. The purpose of the Wilson-Fish program is to provide integrated assistance (cash and medical) and services (employment, case management, English language instruction, and other social services) in order to increase refugees' prospects for early employment and self-sufficiency, reduce their level of welfare dependence, and promote coordination among services providers. Additionally, the Wilson-Fish program enables refugee assistance programs to exist in every state where refugees are resettled. Wilson-Fish projects comprise two types of projects. (1) Nine projects currently establish or maintain a refugee program in a state where the State is not participating in the refugee program or has withdrawn from the refugee program or a portion of the program (Alabama, Alaska, Idaho, Kentucky, Louisiana, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Tennessee). (2) Four projects currently provide an alternative to the existing system of assistance and services to refugees (Colorado, Massachusetts, Vermont, and San Diego).

Wilson-Fish grantees include States, voluntary resettlement agencies (local and national), and a private nonprofit agency. There are 12 state-wide Wilson-Fish projects in the following States: Alabama, Alaska, Colorado, Idaho, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee and Vermont, plus one county-wide project in San Diego County, California. No separate funding is appropriated for Wilson-Fish projects. Funds are drawn instead from funds earmarked for refugee cash and medical assistance grants and refugee support services allocations for the State-administered program (93.566) according to ORR projections.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

93.596 Child Care Mandatory and Matching Funds of the Child Care and Development Fund

Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act, as amended, Title IV, Section 418, 42 USC Code 618. Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990, as amended (42 USC 9858, et seq)

OBJECTIVES:

The Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) is the primary federal funding source to help certain low-income families access child care and to improve the quality of child care for all children. As a block grant, CCDF gives funding to States, Territories, and Tribes to provide child care subsidies primarily through vouchers or certificates to low-income families. In addition, CCDF funds are used to improve the quality of child care for both subsidized and unsubsidized children. The CCDF consists of two funding streams: the mandatory Child Care Entitlement (CCE) and the discretionary Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) (see CFDA 93.575). The CCE portion consists of matching funds, which require a State match and maintenance of effort, and mandatory funds. CCDBG was created by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-508) and is subject to annual appropriations. The Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (PRWORA) of 1996 (P.L. 104-193) consolidated funding for child care under the Social Security Act, where CCE is authorized, and made such funding generally subject to the requirements of the CCDBG Act. The Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 2014 (P.L. 113-186) reauthorized the discretionary portion of CCDF through FY 2020 and made significant changes to improve the health, safety, and quality of child care and provide more continuous child care assistance to low-income children and families. The combination of the discretionary and mandatory funds provides about $8.1 billion in federal funding per year for child care. Additional funds are provided by State matching and maintenance of effort funds, as well as funds transferred from the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Title IV of the Social Security Act appropriates funds (Mandatory and Matching Funds) for the purpose of providing child care assistance. Lead Agencies must use Mandatory and Matching Funds for child care services on a sliding fee scale basis, activities that improve the quality or availability of such services, and other activities that realize the goals of the CCDBG Act.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

A Lead Agency shall re-determine a child's eligibility for child care services no sooner than 12 months following the initial determination or most recent re-determination. Once determined eligible, children are expected to receive a minimum of 12 months of child care services, unless family income rises above 85% SMI or, at Lead Agency option, the family experiences a non-temporary cessation of work, education, or training.

Credentials/Documentation:

Lead Agencies must operate under a CCDF plan approved by the Administration for Children and Families, and must provide assurances that the grantee will comply with the requirements of the CCDBG Act and all applicable Federal law. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Each Grantee must designate a Lead Agency to which grants are awarded and that is accountable for the use of the Mandatory and Matching Funds provided, the duties of which shall include developing a CCDF plan. In conjunction with the development of the CCDF plan, the Lead Agency must hold at least one public hearing no earlier than nine months before the CCDF plan becomes effective and after at least 20 days of statewide public notice, to provide the public an opportunity to comment on the provision of child care services under the plan. In advance of the hearing, the Lead Agency must make the content of the plan available to the public. The Lead Agency must also coordinate the provision of services under the program with other Federal, State, and local child care and early childhood development programs. Also, the Lead Agency must consult with appropriate representatives of local governments. A State is not required to expend any State funds in order to receive its share of the Mandatory Funds. The remaining funds are Matching Funds and are distributed based on the number of children under age 13 in a State compared with the national total of children under age 13. To access Matching Funds, a State must obligate all of its Mandatory Funds allotted in a fiscal year and maintain 100 percent of the State's share of expenditures for the former programs in fiscal year 1994 or fiscal year 1995, whichever is greater. Matching Funds must be matched at the applicable FMAP rate, which is the Medicaid Program matching rate. 93.610 Health Care Innovation Awards (HCIA)

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1115A of the Social Security Act (added by Section 3021 of the Affordable Care Act)

OBJECTIVES:

The first round of the Health Innovation Awards (HCIA), announced on November 14, 2011, was a broad solicitation in which CMS welcomed a wide variety of proposals. In HCIA, Round One, CMS funded 107 Awardees who proposed compelling new models of service delivery/ payment improvements that showed substantial promise of delivering the Three-Part Aim of better health, better health care, and lower costs through improved quality for Medicare, Medicaid, and Childrens Health Insurance Program (CHIP) beneficiaries. Successful models included plans to rapidly develop and/or deploy the requisite workforce to support the proposed model. Awards recognized interventions that showed capability to improve care within the first 6 months of the award, while creating a sustainable pathway to net Medicare/Medicaid/CHIP savings within two to three years. These models of service delivery and payment improvement are now entering Year Two of the three-year period of performance for Round One of the HCIA. A second round of the Health Care Innovation Awards (HCIA) was announced on May 15, 2013. In HCIA Round Two, the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) will fund applicants who propose new service delivery models and design corresponding new payment models that show promise of providing better health, better health care, and lower costs through improved quality for Medicare, Medicaid, and Childrens Health Insurance Program (CHIP) enrollees. In Round Two, CMS is specifically seeking new payment and service delivery models in four broad Innovation Categories, as follows: Models that are designed to rapidly reduce Medicare, Medicaid, and/or CHIP costs in outpatient and/or post-acute settings. Priority areas are diagnostic services, outpatient radiology, high-cost physician-administered drugs, home based services, therapeutic services, and post-acute services. While preference will be given to submissions within these priority areas, CMS will consider submissions in other outpatient and/or post-acute areas within this Category. Models that improve care for populations with specialized needs. Priority areas are high-cost pediatric populations, children in foster care, children at high risk for dental disease, adolescents in crisis, persons with Alzheimers disease, persons living with HIV/AIDS (in particular, efforts to link and retain patients in care and improve medication adherence that lead to viral suppression), persons requiring long-term support and services, and persons with serious behavioral health needs. While preference will be given to submissions within these areas, CMS will consider submissions that improve care for other populations with specialized needs. Models that test approaches for specific types of providers to transform their financial and clinical models. Priority areas are models designed for physician specialties and subspecialties (for example, oncology and cardiology), and for pediatric providers who provide services to children with complex medical issues (including but not limited to care for children with multiple medical conditions, behavioral health issues, congenital disease, chronic respiratory disease, and complex social issues); and that include, as appropriate, shared decision-making mechanisms to engage beneficiaries and their families and/or caregivers in treatment choices. While preference will be given to submissions within these areas, CMS will consider submissions in other areas within this Category and from other specific types of non-physician providers. Models that improve the health of populations defined geographically (health of a community), clinically (health of those with specific diseases), or by socioeconomic class through activities focused on engaging beneficiaries, prevention (for example, a diabetes prevention program or a hypertension prevention program), wellness, and comprehensive care that extend beyond the clinical service delivery setting. These models may include community based organizations or coalitions and may leverage community health improvement efforts. These models must have a direct link to improving the quality and reducing the costs of care for Medicare, Medicaid, and/or CHIP beneficiaries. Priority areas are: models that lead to better prevention and control of cardiovascular disease, hypertension, diabetes, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, asthma, and HIV/AIDS; models that promote behaviors that reduce risk for chronic disease, including increased physical activity and improved nutrition; models that promote medication adherence and self-management skills; models that prevent falls among older adults; and broader models that link clinical care with community-based interventions. While preference will be given to submissions within these areas, CMS will consider submissions in other areas within this Category. These categories were identified as gaps in the current Innovation Center portfolio and as areas that could result in potentially usable models for changes in Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP payment methods. This round of Innovation Awards encourages a strong focus on Medicaid and CHIP populations. In addition, models that primarily focus on acute hospital inpatient care are excluded from this round and will not be reviewed. (Hospitals are eligible to apply for awards if they propose a model within one of the four Innovation Categories described below.) In Round Two in contrast to the first round CMS specifically seeks new payment models to support the service delivery models funded by this initiative. Awardees will be required to implement the service delivery models at the start of the three-year cooperative agreement period and submit a fully developed new Medicare, Medicaid, or CHIP payment model by the end of the cooperative agreement period. Successful applicants will demonstrate that they can implement a model that improves quality of care and reduces cost within the first six months of the award and delivers net savings to CMS within three years. At its discretion and consistent with the requirements of Section 1115A of the Social Security Act, CMS may further develop one or more of these payment and service delivery models and open them to participation through a subsequent solicitation. Do not rely on this Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance announcement for complete and precise answers about the Health Care Innovation Awards. The final authority on all matters, including but not limited to application procedures, format of proposals, deadlines, criteria, eligibility, model test requirements, and the nature of the Funding Opportunity, is the appropriate Funding Opportunity Announcement itself, either for Round One or Round Two of the Health Care Innovation Awards. For specific details about Round Two of the initiative, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Salaries and Expenses

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The funds shall be used to implement models that support system transformation toward higher quality care at lower costs, and to plan and develop complementary payment models. Award dollars may be used for specific components, devices, equipment, software, analytical tools, or personnel provided that are integrated into the service delivery and payment model. Award dollars cannot be used to make permanent improvements to property not owned by the federal government; minor alterations and renovations are permissible under certain circumstances that will be described in the Financial Plan template (to be provided on or about June 14, 2013 on the Innovation Center website at <http://innovation.cms.gov>). CMS will not fund proposals that duplicate models that CMS is currently testing in other initiatives (see Section I.4) or other proposals being investigated elsewhere in HHS. CMS will not fund the provision of services to non-CMS beneficiaries. CMS will not fund applicants that cannot monitor, self-evaluate, and report on the progress and impact of their model in a timely manner. In Round Two, CMS will not fund models that focus primarily on acute hospital inpatient care. All equipment, staff, other budgeted resources, and expenses must be used exclusively for the project identified in the awardees original cooperative agreement application or agreed upon subsequently with HHS, and may not be used for any prohibited uses. Award dollars cannot be used for specific components, devices, equipment, software, or personnel that are not integrated into the entire service delivery and payment model proposal. To match any other Federal funds. To provide services, equipment, or supports that are the legal responsibility of another party under Federal or State law (e.g., vocational rehabilitation or education services) or under any civil rights laws. Such legal responsibilities include, but are not limited to, modifications of a workplace or other reasonable accommodations that are a specific obligation of the employer or other party. To supplant existing State, local, or private funding of infrastructure or services, such as staff salaries, etc. To be used by local entities to satisfy state matching requirements. To pay for the use of specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the entire service delivery and payment model proposal. Award dollars cannot be used for specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the entire service delivery and payment model proposal. CMS will not fund proposals that replicate models that CMS is currently testing in other initiatives. Finally, given the breadth of models that could be submitted, CMS will not fund proposals that cannot monitor, evaluate, and report on the progress and impact of their program in a timely manner. Funding Restrictions Indirect Costs Indirect costs will be capped at 20% or the applicants Federally negotiated indirect cost rate or the applicants provisional rate, whichever of these is lowest. Applicants may elect to waive their Federally negotiated indirect cost rate. If requesting indirect costs, a Federally negotiated Indirect Cost Rate Agreement will be required. Funding Restrictions Direct Services Cooperative Agreement funds may not be used to provide individuals with services that are already funded through Medicare, Medicaid and/or CHIP. In compliance with the OMB Circulars, which define allowed cost, funding from the Innovation Center may not supplant funding for services that are currently authorized through the Medicaid State Plan. This also applies to funding provided through waivers or other grants, including federal grants. Travel or participation in conferences may require CMS approval. Funding Restrictions Reimbursement of Pre-Award Costs No cooperative agreement funds awarded under this solicitation may be used to reimburse pre-award costs. The following standard requirements apply to applications and awards under this FOA: Specific administrative requirements, as outlined in 2 CFR Part 225 and 45 CFR Part 92, apply to cooperative agreement awarded under this announcement. All awardees under this project must comply with all applicable Federal statutes relating to nondiscrimination including, but not limited to: Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, Hill-Burton Community Service nondiscrimination provisions, and Title II Subtitle A of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

Applicant Eligibility:

Other public institution/organization; Round One of HCIA sought to attract a wide variety of health care innovators and organizations, including: provider groups, health systems, payers and other private sector organizations, faith-based organizations, local governments, and public-private partnerships. In addition, certain organizations (such as professional associations) were eligible to apply as conveners assembling and coordinating the efforts of a group of participants. Conveners could serve as facilitators or could be direct award recipients. States were not eligible to apply to HCIA Round One. HCIA Round Two seeks to engage with a wide variety of innovators. Welcome to apply are interested parties that meet the eligibility requirements specified in the Funding Opportunity Announcement, have developed innovations that will drive significant improvement in population health, quality of care, and total cost of care, and can create a clear pathway to an alternate payment model based on their innovation. Examples of the types of organizations expected to apply are: provider groups, health systems, payers and other private sector organizations, faith-based organizations, state and/or local governments, territories or possessions, academic institutions, research organizations, public-private partnerships, and for-profit organizations. By state, we refer to the definition provided under 45 CFR 74.2 as "any of the several States of the U.S., the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, (or) any territory or possession of the U.S." By territory or possession, we mean Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. In addition, certain organizations may apply as conveners that assemble and coordinate the efforts of a group of participants. Unsuccessful applicants from prior CMS funding competitions are eligible to apply. Technology-based models need to reflect the actual use, not the development, of a product in a broader service delivery or payment model. For specific details on eligibility, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Citizen; The Health Care Innovation Awards initiative will fund applicants who propose the most compelling new service delivery and payment models that will drive system transformation and deliver better outcomes for Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP beneficiaries. Proposals should be focused on innovative approaches to improving health and lowering costs for high risk/high opportunity populations, including Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP beneficiaries. In Round Two, proposals should focus, in particular, on beneficiary care and payment in the four Innovation Categories described under the heading, Objectives (050), above. Round Two of the Innovation Awards encourages a strong focus on Medicaid and CHIP populations. However, CMS recognizes that in order for providers to have meaningful incentives to change their service delivery models they must engage multiple payers. Therefore, applications must include a feasible approach for securing participation of multiple payers for their proposed models. This could include demonstrable commitments from current payer partners, current contracts, letters of support or commitment from private insurers, state governments, or local governments. Preference will be given to applications that include participation by non-CMS payers at the outset of the models implementation. Funding from CMS can only be used to provide care for beneficiaries of Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP. For specific details, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>.

Award Procedure:

There are a number of differences between the criteria and review processes for Round One and Round Two of the HCIA. In Round One, the Innovation Center made 107 awards ranging from approximately $1 million to $26.5 million for a three-year period. Cooperative agreements were awarded with consideration to: (1) available funding; (2) geographic diversity; and (3) the quality of each application and the ability to meet the goals of the project. In the first round, less than 5% percent of applications were funded. Profiles of Awardees are available on the CMS website at <http://innovation.cms.gov/>. The CMS Innovation Center announced cooperative agreements for Round One of HCIA in two batches, with the first batch of awardees for Round One of HCIA announced on May 8, 2012 and the second (final) batch for Round One announced on June 15, 2012. Applications in Round One were scored with a total of 100 points available. The following criteria were used to evaluate Round One applications received in response to this solicitation. Round One Criteria: Design of Project (30 points) Organizational Capacity and Management Plan (25 points) Workforce Goals (15 points) Budget, Budget Narrative, Financial Plan and Sustainability (20 points) Evaluation and Reporting (10 points). In Round Two, applications will be scored with a total of 100 points available. The following criteria will be used to evaluate applications received in response to this solicitation. Round Two Criteria: Design of Proposed Model (25 points) Organizational Capacity and Management Plan (25 points) Return on Investment (20 points) Budget, Budget Narrative, and Model Sustainability (20 points) Monitoring and Reporting (10 points). For specific details about criteria for evaluation being used for Round Two of the initiative, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>. Review Process: A team consisting of HHS staff from outside CMMI and other outside experts will review all eligible applications. The review process will include the following steps: Prior to submission of the application to the review panel, a preliminary eligibility screen will be conducted by CMS staff or CMS contractors to ensure that the technical requirements of the application are met. Applications will be screened again to determine eligibility for further review using criteria detailed in this solicitation and in applicable law, including 2 CFR Parts 180 and 376. The review panel will assess each application to determine the merits of the proposal and the extent to which the proposed model furthers the purposes of Health Care Innovation Awards Round Two. Reviewers will award points in each area to determine scores. CMS reserves the right to request that applicants revise or otherwise modify their proposals and budget based on the recommendations of the panel. Concurrently, the CMS Office of the Actuary will assist the GMO in review of the reasonableness of the estimated cost to the government, and will review the potential for federal savings. This review will be one of the criteria for the CMS Approving Official to consider during the application review process. The CMS Approving Official may utilize information provided by the CMS Actuary's assessment of applicants' potential for savings in determining award recipients. The results of the objective review of the applications by qualified experts will be used to advise the CMS Approving Official. Final award decisions will be made by the CMS Approving Official, guided by recommendations of the review panel and by programmatic concerns. CMS intends to fund models in communities with a wide variety of geographic and socio-economic characteristics, including underserved urban and rural areas. CMS reserves the right to approve or deny any or all proposals for funding. Note that section 1115A of the Social Security Act states that there is no administrative or judicial review under sections 1869 or 1878 of the Act for the selection of organizations, sites, or participants to test models under section 1115A of the Act. Interviews may be conducted with applicants prior to selection in order to clarify Application and Submission Information as needed. CMS reserves the right to request that applicants revise or otherwise modify their proposals and budget based on the recommendations of the panel and the review of the CMS Approving Official. Successful applicants will receive one cooperative agreement award issued under this announcement. Unsuccessful applicants may request reviewers' comments. For specific details about the Review Process for Round Two of the initiative, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>. The Announcement and Award dates for Round Two are: Funding Opportunity Announcement: May 15, 2013 Anticipated Awardee Announcements: Phase 1 January 15, 2014; Phase 2 January 31, 2014 Anticipated Notice of Cooperative Agreement Award: Phase 1 and Phase 2 February 28, 2014 Award Notices for Round Two of the HCIA: The Authorized Official of successful applicants will receive an electronic Notice of Award (NoA) signed and dated by the CMS Grants Management Officer that will set forth the amount of the award and other pertinent information. The award will also include standard Terms and Conditions, and may also include additional specific cooperative agreement terms and conditions. Potential applicants should be aware that special requirements could apply to cooperative agreement awards based on the particular circumstances of the effort to be supported and/or deficiencies identified in the application by the review panel. The NoA is the legal document issued to notify the awardee that an award has been made and that funds may be requested from the HHS payment system. Any communication between CMS and awardees prior to issuance of the NoA is not an authorization to begin performance of a model. Unsuccessful applicants will be notified by letter, sent through the U.S. Postal Service to the applicant organization as listed on its SF 424, within 30 days of announcement of Notices of Award. The award procedures for Round Two are revised versions of those stipulated for Round One. Reports:

The reporting requirements for Round Two differ in some respects from Round Ones reporting requirements. Round One applicants were expected to include in their proposals a description of their plans for collecting and producing the data and analysis of the model that would be provided to CMS and its evaluation and monitoring contractors. Careful monitoring and reporting of the effect of the model on the quality of care received as well as health care outcomes and costs are expected. Awardees agreed to cooperate with any Federal evaluation of the program and provide quarterly, semi-annual (every 6 months), annual, and final (at the end of the cooperative agreement period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS, and submitted electronically. These reports outline how cooperative agreement funds are used, describe program progress, and describe any barriers encountered and measurable outcomes. CMS provides the format for program reporting and the technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. Awardees also agreed to respond to requests for information necessary for the evaluation of national efforts and for data on key elements of their own cooperative agreement activities. For Round Two, the application must include a description of the applicants plan for collecting and producing the data and analysis of the model that will be provided to CMS and its evaluation and monitoring contractors. The application must include detailed information on the self-monitoring plan. Careful monitoring and reporting of the effect of the model on the quality of care received as well as health care outcomes and costs are expected. Awardees also will be required to monitor patient satisfaction with their care experience by using validated tools that measure the patient experience of care. Monitoring reports must be provided to CMS quarterly and they must include information on the use of cooperative agreement funding and an assessment of model implementation, lessons learned, patient experience, quality improvements, clinical outcomes, and estimates of cost savings. Note that awardees will also be required to cooperate fully with the monitoring and evaluation contractors in reporting data that they require for the model evaluations. CMS plans to conduct rigorous evaluation of each of these models through a separate evaluation contract. This work will entail establishing treatment and control or comparison groups and measuring the model effects on costs and outcomes. Applicants will be expected to facilitate evaluation contractor work in these areas by providing all necessary information and access required for the evaluation. Awardees may be required to report information in standard format and measure and report outcomes in a standardized way, if requested by the evaluation contractor. Awardees will be measured and monitored on their ability to execute their proposed operational work plan submitted as part of their application. Key components of this monitoring will include, but are not limited to: Meeting proposed milestones and deliverables; Producing timely and accurate reports with clear progress on quality and cost performance as described above; and Building and/or enhancing required infrastructure. Award recipients will be required to report their actual performance on cost and quality outcomes and operational performance, and CMS will regularly monitor the results. Awardees will be required to provide, or cooperate in providing, as applicable, the necessary data elements to CMS. In addition to this self-monitoring and self-evaluation, CMS will also collect from awardees a standard minimum set of performance indicators through CMS monitoring and evaluation contractors. CMS will contract with independent entities to assist in monitoring the models and to conduct an independent evaluation. For specific details on monitoring, reporting, and evaluation requirements for Round Two of the HCIA, see the Funding Opportunity Announcement at <https://www.grantsolutions.gov/gs/preaward/previewPublicAnnouncement.do?id=17996>. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different models, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. Data for monitoring will include process, safety, and performance measures. It will include, but will not be limited to, data on the background characteristics of the target population and target area, data characterizing the activities of the model, and a battery of follow-up data describing relevant characteristics of the target population or target area and metrics at selected intervals after commencement of the model. This will include detailed information on model participant (i.e., beneficiaries participating in the model) characteristics and outcomes reported in a standard format. Data for monitoring will be collected from awardees and/or CMS claims data sources. The monitoring aspect of this initiative will balance the examination of the extent to which awardees demonstrate fidelity to their proposed models of care and the potential need to make mid-course corrections that improve the models of care based on feedback from the monitoring and evaluation findings. Moreover, the evaluation will assess whether there are unintended consequences as a result of the model. Each proposed model in this portfolio is expected to submit a Financial Plan and supplemental narrative and schedules that provide an explanation of how it expects to meaningfully reduce medical cost trend for their identified population. The Financial Plan requires awardees to provide the following: Uses of Funds: Awardees should enter proposed use of funds in the Financial Plan template. These funds must match Form SF 424A. Applicants should provide yearly line-item projections on how awarded funds will be allocated. The total use of funds will sum to the requested award. Savings: oData under Current Census should describe services currently provided to program participants. Applicants are requested to provide data on the number of participants in applicant programs, the current baseline Per Beneficiary Per Year (PBPY) Total Cost of Care for Participants touched by programs, and the proposed percent cost reduction the award funding will facilitate in those costs. oData under Proposed Expansion should describe the impact on the proposed expansion population that award funding will facilitate. Applicants are requested to provide data on the number of participants targeted, the baseline PBPY Total Cost of Care for participants in targeted expansion area, and the proposed percent cost reduction the award funding will facilitate. Applicants are required to provide supplemental narrative and supporting schedules with detailed information on the specific intervention expected to reduce cost and the estimated reduction in expenditures by funding source resulting from said intervention by service type and by funding source, including estimates for the number of affected individuals. Applicants should provide backup documentation, e.g., research studies, evidence of reduced cost from existing intervention, et cetera, as available. Applicants are encouraged to provide clear, detailed reports to facilitate objective, data-driven reviews. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different models, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. Data for monitoring will include process, safety and performance measures. It will include, but will not be limited to, data on the background characteristics of the target population and target area, data characterizing the activities of the program, and a battery of follow-up data describing relevant characteristics of the target population or target area and metrics at selected intervals after commencement of the program model. Data for monitoring will be collected both from awardees and or CMS claims data sources. The program monitoring aspect of this initiative will balance the examination of the extent to which awardees demonstrate fidelity to their proposed models of care and the potential need to make mid-course corrections that improve the models of care based on feedback from the monitoring and evaluation findings. Moreover, the evaluation will assess whether there is evidence of harm or unintended consequences as a result of the intervention.

SIM provides financial and technical support to states to test the ability of state governments to use their regulatory and policy levers to accelerate health transformation. In Round 1, CMS partnered with 6 Model Test states to implement state-wide health transformation strategies and 19 Model Design states to develop and refine State Healthcare Innovation Plans to guide future implementation efforts. Drawing on lessons from the funding opportunity released in Round 1, State Innovation Models: Funding for Model Design and Testing Assistance (CMS-1G1-12-001) (Round 1 FOA), Round 2 of SIM specifies additional parameters that CMS believes correlate with successful state-wide health transformation. These parameters are described in this Funding Announcement in the form of requirements for Round 2 applications. CMS will fund up to 12 Model Test states with approximately $20-100 million grants per state, with funding based in part on the size of the state population and the scope of the transformation proposal. Additionally, CMS will provide up to $3 million per state for up to 15 Model Design cooperative agreements to design new State Health System Innovation Plans or enhance existing plans developed in Round 1. All Round 1 Model Design states must apply for Round 2 of SIM. The Round 1 FOA indicated that states receiving Round 1 Model Design awards must submit a Model Testing proposal for the Round 2 FOA. CMS is amending that requirement to submit a testing proposal in Round 2, so that a Model Design state may either apply for a Model Test award or may apply for a second Model Design award in order to enhance their State Health System Innovation Plan for future testing.

Reductions in Medicare beneficiary choice of provider or health plan, or Medicaid choice of provider or health plan beyond those allowed today, or changes to maintenance of effort requirements; i. Changes to CMS sanctions, penalties, or official denial of participation currently in effect. CMS will not fund proposals that duplicate models for populations that are already being funded and tested as part of any other CMS and/or HHS initiatives. For example, if the state receives a Strong Start for Mothers and Newborns cooperative agreement, SIM funding will only be used in a coordinated manner to complement and not to duplicate or supplant funding for Strong Start for Mothers and Newborns. SIM funding may not supplant existing federal or state funding. States may propose the use of SIM test funds to support additional costs associated with or created by testing a SIM model. States may not use SIM funds as state match under the Medicaid or CHIP programs nor use funds to substitute for currently funded Medicaid or CHIP services or administrative activities. Indirect Costs If requesting indirect costs, an Indirect Cost Rate Agreement will be required. For this Cooperative Agreement funding opportunity indirect costs are limited to 10%. The provisions of 2 CFR Part 225 (previously OMB Circular A-87) govern reimbursement of indirect costs under this solicitation. A copy of these cost principles is available online at:

Direct Services Cooperative Agreement funds may not be used to provide individuals with services that are already funded through Medicare, Medicaid, and/or CHIP Reimbursement of Pre-Award Costs No cooperative agreement funds awarded under this solicitation may be used to reimburse pre-award costs. Prohibited Uses of Cooperative Agreement Funds To match any other Federal funds. To provide services, equipment, or support that are the legal responsibility of another party under Federal or state law (e.g., vocational rehabilitation, criminal justice, or foster care) or under any civil rights laws. Such legal responsibilities include, but are not limited to, modifications of a workplace or other reasonable accommodations that are a specific obligation of the employer or other party. To supplant existing Federal state, local, or private funding of infrastructure or services. To be used by local entities to satisfy state matching requirements. To pay for the use of specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the entire service delivery and payment model proposal. To lobby or advocate for changes in Federal and/or state law. CMS will not fund proposals that duplicate models for populations that are already being funded and tested as part of CMS or HHS initiatives. For example, if the state receives a Strong Start for Mothers and Newborns cooperative agreement, SIM funding will only be used in a coordinated manner and not to supplant funding for Strong Start for Mothers and Newborns. States may propose the use of SIM testing funds to support additional costs associated with or created by testing a SIM model. Indirect Costs If requesting indirect costs, an Indirect Cost Rate Agreement will be required. For this Cooperative Agreement funding opportunity indirect costs are limited to 10%. The provisions of 2 CFR Part 225 (previously OMB Circular A-87) govern reimbursement of indirect costs under this solicitation. A copy of these cost principles is available online at:

Applicant Eligibility:

U.S. Territories and possessions; CMS invites the 50 state Governors Offices, United States Territories Governors Offices (American Samoa, Guam, Northern

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands), and the Mayors Office of the District of Columbia to apply. Only one application from a Governor per state is permitted for either a Model Design or a Model Test award (assuming the state applied and was not selected for funding under the first round of Model Test awards). A state cannot receive multiple Round 2 Model Design or Model Test awards. A state cannot receive both a Round 2 Model Design award and a Round 2 Model Test award. Each application must include a letter from the Governor (or the Mayor, if from the District of Columbia) officially endorsing the application for a Model Design award or for a Model Test award. States currently engaged in a Model Test award with CMS are NOT eligible to apply for funding under Round 2. A state may propose that an outside organization focused on quality and state delivery system transformation, such as a non-profit affiliated with the State Department of Health or a public-private partnership supported by the Governors Office, receive and administer funds through a Model Design or Model Test award. The Governors Office must submit such requests in writing to CMS with its Letter of Intent and include a justification for the request and an attestation that the state will actively participate in all activities described in its proposal. Approval of such requests will be at the sole discretion of CMS. Only one such request supported by the Governor will be allowed per state. A state pursuing this approach will still be expected to address all of the required areas described in this FOA. Eligibility Threshold Criteria: All applicants must have submitted a required letter of intent to the programmatic point of contact in Section VI. Agency Contacts by June 6, 2014. If a letter of intent has not been submitted by the required due date, any subsequent application submitted by the entity will be ineligible. See Section IV.2.A, Letter of Intent to Apply, for more information. Application deadline: Applications not received by the application deadline (TBD) through www.grants.gov will not be reviewed. Application requirements: Applications will be considered for funding only if the application meets the requirements outlined in Section III, Eligibility Information and Section IV, Application and Submission Information. Page limits: Model Test applications shall not be more than 55 pages in length. Model Design applications shall not be more than 27 pages in length. Both types of applications must be limited to the page maximums, sequence of sections, and section content specified in Section IV.2 Content and Form of Application Submission, parts C & D. In addition, applications should include attestations of support from key stakeholders. The letters of support will not be included in the page limits for applications. The letters should attest to stakeholders active engagement in the model and must contain specific information about how the stakeholders will contribute to the SIM process. The standard forms, project abstract, Governors endorsement, and curriculum vitae are also not included in these page limits. States are strongly encouraged to review the criteria information provided in Section V of the FOA, Application Review Information, to help ensure that the proposal adequately addresses all the criteria that will be used in evaluating applications and determining appropriate funding levels for each award. Beneficiary Eligibility (082): The emphasis is on targeting Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP populations. Proposals will describe the target populations, geographic areas, or communities that will be the focus of service delivery and payment model testing, the current quality and beneficiary experience outcomes including current health population status, and the specific improvement targets expected from the model.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; State; The emphasis is on targeting Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP populations. Proposals will describe the target populations, geographic areas, or communities that will be the focus of service delivery and payment model testing, the current quality and beneficiary experience outcomes including current health population status, and the specific improvement targets expected from the model.

Credentials/Documentation:

Employer Identification Number: All applicants must have a valid Employer Identification Number (EIN) assigned by the Internal Revenue Service. Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS number): All applicants must have a Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number in order to apply. The DUNS number is a nine-digit identification number that uniquely identifies business entities. Obtaining a DUNS number is free. To obtain a DUNS number, access the following website: www.dunandbradstreet.com or call 1-866-705-5711. See Section IV, Application and Submission Information, for more information on obtaining a DUNS number. All applicants must register in the System for Award Management (SAM) database (formerly CCR) (<https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM>) in order to be able to submit an application at <http://www.grants.gov>. The SAM process is a separate process from submitting an application. Applicants should begin the SAM registration process as soon as possible after the announcement is posted to ensure that it does not impair your ability to meet required submission deadlines. In order to register, applicants must provide their DUNS and EIN numbers. Additional information about SAM is available at <https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM/>. Applicants must successfully register with SAM prior to submitting an application or registering in the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act Subaward Reporting System (FSRS) as a prime awardee user. Organizations must report executive compensation as part of the registration profile at <https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM> by the end of the month following the month in which this award is made, and annually thereafter (based on the reporting requirements of the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act (FFATA) of 2006 (Pub. L. 109-282), as amended by Section 6202 of Public Law 110-252 and implemented by 2 CFR Part 170)). Primary awardees must maintain a current registration with the SAM database, and may make subawards only to entities that have DUNS numbers. See Section VI, Award Administration Information, for more information on FFATA. The Grants Management Specialist assigned to monitor the subaward and executive compensation reporting requirements is Iris Grady, who can be reached at divisionofgrantsmanagement@cms.hhs.gov. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. This Funding Announcement offers two separate funding opportunities: (1) Model Test awards and (2) Model Design awards. Model Test: Proposal RequirementsThe Innovation Center will award up to 12 Model Test awards to states through this Funding Announcement. Model Test awards will provide financial and technical support to implement fully developed proposals for successful state-wide transformation. Awards will range from $20-100 million per state totaling $700 million over a four-year period, based on the size of the states population and the scope of the proposal. If a Model Test applicant is not selected for a Model Test award, CMS may select the state/entity for a Model Design award if (1) after all possible states/entities which applied for Model Design awards are selected and funding is still available to issue additional Model Design awards (not to exceed overall maximum of 15 Model Design awards); and (2) CMS determines the state/entity is not ready for a Model Test award and would benefit from Model Design funding. States currently engaged in a Model Test award with CMS will not be eligible to apply for funding in Round 2. The selection criteria for the Round 2 Model Test application will be based on a states ability to successfully apply policy and regulatory levers over the award performance period to address three focus areas: (1) improving population health; (2) transforming health care delivery systems; and (3) decreasing per capita total health care spending. During the selection process, CMS will require additional discussions with applicants regarding their proposals. Selection for a Round 2 Model Test will not constitute nor guarantee approval of a request for a Medicaid State Plan Amendment (SPA) or a Medicaid 1115 Waiver. States seeking a Medicaid SPA or Medicaid 1115 waiver may do so under established processes. In addition to an expert panel review, selected applicants for Model Test cooperative agreements will be required to present their Round 2 proposals. Selected applicants will be invited and strongly encouraged to present their proposal in person, or conversely can present virtually to a panel comprised of external experts as well as HHS leadership. The states presentation must be led by a cabinet-level health official, such as the Secretary of Health, and include providers and commercial payers who have committed to actively participate in the model. In the case of public-private partnership entities applying for a state innovation model test, senior leaders from the private and public sector, including senior leaders of the applicant entity, shall be present. All travel expenses incurred by applicants will not be reimbursed by CMS nor can they be reimbursed by any funding awarded under this FOA. In addition, if a state does not participate in the required presentation, it will not be eligible for funding. Model Test applications must address the following required areas: A. Model Test Project Narrative. The state must produce a detailed and fully developed proposal capable of creating state-wide health transformation for the preponderance of care within the state. For each individual element and/or program in the test proposal, the state must highlight how the element or program will (1) improve population health; (2) transform the health care delivery system; and/or (3) decrease per capita health care spending, drawing on a supporting evidence base. B. While Round 2 provides states with significant flexibility to design contextually-specific plans for state-wide health transformation, each proposal must also include the following core elements:(1) Plan for improving Population Health. The state must develop a state-wide plan to improve population health during the project period. The state will be offered the opportunity to obtain technical support from the Centers for Disease Control in developing the plans. The plans should include integration of population health strategies with public health officials and health care delivery systems for all populations. At a minimum, plans should address the core measures identified in the population health metrics document, namely: tobacco use and the incidence of obesity, and diabetes. (See Appendix 1.) In addition, states should consider integrating state strategies to address child wellness and prevention priorities, as applicable, including such factors as reducing childhood obesity, preventing early childhood dental caries, and addressing maternal depression to foster healthy child development.(2) Health Care Delivery System Transformation Plan. CMS has identified the following characteristics to be closely associated with transformed health care delivery systems:a. Providers across the state and across the care continuum participate in integrated or virtually integrated delivery models;b. Over 80% of payments to providers from all payers are in fee-for-service alternatives that link payment to value;c. Every resident of the state has a primary care provider who is accountable both for the quality and for the total cost of their health care;d. Care is coordinated across all providers and settings;e. There is a high-level of patient engagement and quantifiable results on patient experience;f. Providers leverage the use of health information technology to improve quality;g. There is an adequate health care workforce to meet state residents needs; h. Providers perform at the top of their license and board certification;i. Performance in quality and cost measures is consistently high;j. Population health measures are integrated into the delivery system; andk. Data is used to drive health system processes.The state must describe in detail how it will engage providers in health care delivery system transformation across the state, working towards the goals described above. CMS recognizes that individual state proposals will vary considerably. However, in reviewing the Health Care Delivery Transformation Plan, and the proposed cost and quality targets, CMS will consider state, regional, and national demographics, proposal parameters, alignment/overlap of existing CMS programs, and other factors that impact health. One or more specific payment and/or service delivery models that include, but are not limited to, the states Medicaid population, state employee population, and/or commercial payers populations. The payment and/or service delivery models must identify the targeted populations, the number of beneficiaries served, the number of participating providers, and the services to be delivered. CMS encourages applicants to propose payment models that directly align with one or more existing Medicare programs, demonstrations, and/or models, such as accountable care organizations (ACOs), primary care medical homes, and bundled payment programs. Medicare participation is not guaranteed and will be assessed on a case-by-case basis after thorough review of the proposed model.As SIM aims to reach a preponderance of a states population and Medicaid can serve as an important lever for driving health care delivery system transformation, the state should describe any Medicaid expansion activities and the percentage of the states population that is covered by Medicaid. The state must commit to using multiple regulatory authorities to influence the structure and performance of the states health care system. Regulatory authorities whose uses are envisioned under SIM include, but are not limited to the following:a. Aligning certificate of need processes and criteria (if applicable) to reinforce accountable care and delivery system transformation or developing alternative approaches to certificate of need programs, such as community-based approaches that could include voluntary participation by all providers and payers; b. Developing regulatory approaches to improve the effectiveness, efficiency and appropriate mix of the health care work force, such as through professional licensure/accreditation of providers and/or expanding scope of practice statutes; c. Creating opportunities to align state regulations and requirements for health insurers with the broader goals of multi-payer delivery system and payment reform; d. Integrating value-based principles into health insurance exchange Qualified Health Plan (QHP) certification processes, state employee plans, or Medicaid managed care plans including through selective contracting with carriers to provide health care coverage plans that provide the most competitive combination of value, quality, and choice; ande. Requiring academic medical centers and professional schools to integrate transformation-based teachings into medical education programs.f. This list is not intended to be exhaustive. States may propose alternative regulatory authorities that support delivery system transformation to satisfy this requirement in consultation with CMS.CMS recognizes that health information technology and data analytics will be important to achieving optimal efficiency and improved outcomes in state-wide health care delivery. States may propose to use SIM funds for the implementation of specific technology, software, applications, or other analytical tools as part of state infrastructure development to support the Model Test as long as the state provides a clear strategy for how, if applicable, the technological approach will be financed in addition to SIM, how it will not supplant other funding sources, and how it will be sustained after the cooperative agreement period has ended. Proposals must document the current state of health information technology adoption and utilization in the state, including current EHR adoption levels, percentage of providers meeting Meaningful Use requirements in the EHR Incentive Programs, and use of technology to support HIE activities. The Model Test proposals must also provide detailed descriptions for health information technology plans in the following domains:a. Governance: Describe how state leadership will direct the planning and oversight of implementation; supply a comprehensive plan to implement infrastructure to support the Model Test that leverages existing assets and aligns with federally-funded programs and state enterprise IT systems; and explain how the governance structure will incorporate and expand existing public/private health information exchanges, including those operated by ACOs.b. Policy: Describe policy and regulatory levers that will be used to accelerate standards based health information technology adoption to improve care in the state Model Test; describe methods to improve transparency and encourage innovative uses of data; offer a plan for promotion of patient engagement and shared-decision making; and propose multi-payer strategies to enable and expand the use of health information technology.c. Infrastructure: Describe how the state will implement analytical tools and use data driven evidence based approach to coordinate and improve care across the state Model Test; offer plans to utilize telehealth and perform remote patient monitoring to increase access to care and the timeliness of care; articulate plans to use standards based health IT to enable electronic quality reporting; explain how public health IT systems (such as clinical registry systems) will be integrated; and describe how support of electronic data will drive quality improvement at the point of care.d. Technical Assistance: Define how the state will provide technical assistance to providers; identify targeted provider groups that will receive assistance and what services will be delivered; and identify how the state intends to extend resources to providers ineligible for Meaningful Use incentive payments, if applicable.This list is not intended to be exhaustive. States may propose alternative approaches to data analytics and health information technology that support delivery system transformation. States will be offered the opportunity to obtain technical support from the Office of the National Coordinator for Health IT in developing the plans.In addition to explaining the individual components of the test, the State must address its rationale for how the specified elements and/or programs, in combination, will achieve state-wide health transformation.States may elect to focus on select areas of the state and/or to sequence elements or programs in the test geographically or temporally. The state should identify the tests geographic scope in this section and address any sequencing of individual elements and/or programs in its response to Section I.4.A.iv., Operational Plan, below. The state must demonstrate how it will use its unique role as a stakeholder convenor to accelerate state-wide health transformation. The state must (1) demonstrate that there are a significant number of key stakeholders representative of the entire state population engaged and actively committed to the implementation of the states Model Test proposal and (2) present a clear and pragmatic strategy for maintaining stakeholder commitment throughout implementation of the proposed test. Stakeholders must include health care providers/systems, commercial payers/purchasers, state hospital and medical associations, community-based and long term support providers, consumer advocacy organizations, and, as applicable, tribal communities.The state must submit attestations of support from each identified stakeholder as part of its application (template provided in Appendix 3). Notwithstanding the above, representatives from stakeholder organizations must be prepared to travel to CMS or participate in a virtual teleconference during the selection process to discuss their commitment to the states proposal. The state must provide plans to develop a state-wide plan to align quality measures across all payers in the state. If the state and key stakeholders have not yet reached consensus on such a plan at the time of submission, the proposal must describe in detail any progress to date on quality measure alignment, including the successes and challenges faced, and must articulate a path for developing a realizable plan by the conclusion of the up to 12 month pre-implementation period. The plan should also demonstrate the payers commitment to reducing the administrative and/or non-clinical burden to providers in the state. The state must provide quantifiable measures for regularly monitoring the impact of its proposed model, including the effectiveness of the policy and regulatory levers applied under the Model Test, on the three key outcomes of (1) strengthening population health; (2) transforming the health care delivery system; and (3) decreasing per capita health care spending. Measures should be selected with a focus on the particularized state health demographics and health needs the Model Test proposal aims to address. All quality and cost measures must use the states entire population in the denominator. Examples of measure domains that may apply include: Population health: percentage of state residents using tobacco Health care delivery system transformation: percentage of state residents attributed to a primary care doctor Per capita cost spending: per capita Medicare inpatient costs Final measures will be refined in conjunction with CMS during the up to 12 month pre-implementation period. The state also will be responsible for monitoring and reporting to CMS on the progress and impact of its Model Test at regular intervals. In addition, CMS will conduct an independent evaluation of funded proposals in accordance with the requirements set forth in Section 1115A of the Social Security Act (added by Section 3021 of the Affordable Care Act). The state must identify all existing health care innovation initiatives occurring within the state, including CMS, HHS, federal, and external initiatives (e.g., the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Aligning Forces for Quality program), and demonstrate how the proposal aligns with these health care innovation efforts. The state must describe how the proposal will (1) coordinate with and build upon existing initiatives and (2) ensure that federal funding will not be used for duplicative activities, or to supplant current federal or state funding. For example, if a state is participating in the State Financial Alignment Model, the state should describe how the State Financial Alignment Model complements the states proposed SIM model. As part of its application, the state must submit a SF-424A and a budget narrative. The budget narrative must be consistent with the SF-424A and Model Test requirements as well as limit overhead and administrative costs to no more than 10% of direct costs. States should indicate other resources that will aid in implementing the Model Test plan. See Section IV. 2. Content and Form of Application Submission for more information. As part of its application, the state must submit a Financial Analysis. The Financial Analysis must estimate the proposals return on investment for the Model, and specifically for Medicare, Medicaid, and/or CHIP populations, over the performance period of the award as well as on a projected annualized basis after the term of the award is finished. The state must explain how its interventions will reduce total cost of care for the beneficiaries its model serves. The Financial Analysis also must provide financial models explaining the logic driving their forecasted cost of care savings. The state must obtain and submit an external actuarial certification of their Financial Analysis with their application. A qualified actuary who is a member of the American Academy of Actuaries must complete the external certification. The CMS Office of the Actuary will assist in reviewing the reasonableness of the estimated cost to the government, and will review the potential for federal savings. The external actuarial certification, as well as the review of the CMS Actuary, will be considered in final selection of Model Test awards. The state must submit a detailed Operational Plan that describes the activities and budgets for each year of the model and provide a detailed timeline for implementation and major milestones for successfully executing the Plan. The Operational Plan must show how the applicant plans to scale implementation activities to ramp up to an operational start within twelve months of receiving funding. The applicant must also establish accountability targets for the project, including specific quarterly milestones and metrics associated with each investment or activity that would be financed in whole or in part by this award. Projected quarterly targets for the test period should indicate the number and/or proportion of health care providers, hospitals, and beneficiaries that will be engaged by each Model Test component. The Operational Plan must also address any assumptions made and risks to the operational timeline, probability and impact of identified risks actually occurring, and projected strategies for mitigating identified risks. In addition, the application should show that the applicant has the resources and track record needed to operate the model and report on the progress it is making during the operation. Applicants shall include a list of key personnel; and for each person on this list, applicants should describe their relevant background, their roles, and overall responsibility. Applicants should address the Governors existing and future involvement in the models design and implementation, and the state agencies and/or departments that will be actively involved in executing the model. Applicants may also propose an operational plan that implements their State Health System Innovation Plan through a public-private partnership. Under such an approach, the state must demonstrate active engagement and participation in the public-private partnership. Model Design: Proposal Requirements The Innovation Center will award up to 15 Model Design states through this Funding Announcement. Model Design awards will provide financial and technical support to design proposals for successful state-wide transformation. Awards will range from $1-3 million over a one-year project period. Eligible states include both those that did not participate in Round 1, as well as Round 1 Model Design states that met the terms and condition of the Round 1 project but require additional design work in order to implement the plan (i.e. increased stakeholder engagement, measurable public health value, cost and quality targets). Round 1 Model Design state proposals shall include the extent to which the state will develop a design that enhances the existing state plan for delivery transformation. To the extent feasible, Round 2 Model Design awardees will be required to implement and test the plans they develop. Model Design applications must address the following required areas: The state must demonstrate a clear process for designing or refining a plan with the engagement of multiple components of state government. The state should address the elements detailed in Section I.4.A.i, Model Test Project Narrative, and listed by name below, including specifically identifying the levers the state will aim to incorporate into a comprehensive state plan, such as the states Medicaid program, state employee health plans, and state-owned academic medical centers. In their design plans, states must explain the unique features of their design efforts and their strategies for designing a plan that aligns with existing CMS efforts. Further, state plans must include multiple payers. This narrative must include a modified stakeholder engagement strategy, as outlined in Section I.4.B.i.6 below. o Plan for Improving Population Health o Health Care Delivery System Transformation o Payment and/or Service Delivery Model o Leveraging Regulatory Authority o Health Information Technology o Stakeholder Engagement. The application must identify the proposed stakeholders that will actively participate in the Model Design process and present a clear and pragmatic strategy for engaging and maintaining their commitment to developing a State Health System Innovation Plan. States are expected to work with a broad group of stakeholders representative of the entire state population in their Model Design process, including, but not limited to, a significant number of health care providers/systems, long term service and supports providers, commercial payers, state hospital and medical associations, tribal communities and consumer advocacy organizations. The state must describe the strategy for designing a state health plan that includes multi-payer payment innovation and measure alignment. o Quality Measure Alignment o Monitoring and Evaluation o Plan Alignment with State and Federal Innovation As part of its application, the state must submit a SF-424A and a budget narrative. The budget narrative must be consistent with the SF-424A and Model Design requirements as well as limit overhead and administrative costs to no more than 10% of direct costs. States should indicate other resources that will aid in designing the State Health System Innovation Plan. See Section IV. 2. Content and Form of Application Submission for more information. As part of its application, the state must submit a Financial Analysis. The Financial Analysis must, at minimum, describe the populations being addressed and their respective total medical and other services costs as per member per month and population total. If known, the Financial Analysis should also describe (1) anticipated cost savings resulting from specified interventions, including the types of costs that will be affected by the model and the anticipated level of improvement by target population and (2) expected total cost savings and return on investment for the overall state model and basis for expected savings (previous studies, experience, etc.). The state must submit a detailed Operational Plan that describes the activities and budgets for the performance period of the award and a detailed timeline for the design process with major milestones. The plan should also include roles and responsibilities of key partners and payer participants (if applicable) and major milestones and dates for successfully executing the Operational Plan. Applicants also should include a list of key personnel; for each person on this list, applicants should describe their relevant background, their roles, and overall responsibility. Applicants should address the Governors existing and future involvement in the models design and implementation, and the state agencies and/or departments that will be actively involved in designing the model. Applicants may also propose an operational plan that seeks to design the State Health System Innovation Plan through a public-private partnership. Under such an approach, the state must demonstrate active engagement and participation in the public-private partnership. The operational plan must also address any assumptions made and risks to the operational timeline, and projected strategies for mitigating identified risks. The Funding Opportunity Announcement serves as the application package for this cooperative agreement and contains all the instructions to enable a potential applicant to apply. The application should be written primarily as a narrative with the standard forms required by the Federal government for all cooperative agreements. A separate and complete application must be submitted for each type of submission and for each round of submission. A non-binding letter of intent to apply must be submitted to the CMS programmatic contact listed in Section VI. Agency Contacts by June 6, 2014. Entities which do not submit a letter of intent by this deadline will be ineligible to apply. As explained in Section III. Eligibility Information, a Governor must submit an official request, along with its letter of intent, if it plans to propose that an outside organization focused on quality and state delivery transformation, such as a non-profit affiliated with the State Department of Health or a public-private partnership supported by the Governors Office, receives and administers funds through a Model Design or Model Test award. A justification must be included with the request as well as an attestation that the state will actively participate in all activities described in the proposal. Approval of such requests will be at the sole discretion of CMS. Only one application supported by the Governor will be allowed per state. Application materials will be available for download at <http://www.grants.gov>. Please note that HHS requires applications for all announcements to be submitted electronically through <http://www.grants.gov>. For assistance with Grants.gov, contact support@grants.gov or call 1-800-518-4726. The Funding Opportunity Announcement can also be viewed on the Innovation Center website at <http://innovations.cms.gov>. Specific instructions for applications submitted via <http://www.grants.gov>: You can access the electronic application for this project at <http://www.grants.gov>. You must search the downloadable application page by the CFDA number shown on the cover page of this announcement. At the <http://www.grants.gov> website, you will find information about submitting an application electronically through the site, including the hours of operation. HHS strongly recommends that you do not wait until the application due date to begin the application process through <http://www.grants.gov>, because of the time needed to complete the required registration steps. All applicants under this announcement must have an Employer Identification Number (EIN) to apply. Please note, the time needed to complete the EIN registration process can be substantial, and applicants should therefore begin the process of obtaining an EIN immediately upon posting of this FOA to ensure the EIN is received in advance of application deadlines. All applicants, as well as sub-recipients, must have a Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number at the time of application in order to be considered for a grant or cooperative agreement. A DUNS number is required for using the Government-wide electronic portal, www.grants.gov. The DUNS number is a nine-digit identification number that uniquely identifies business entities. To obtain a DUNS number, access the following website: www.dunandbradstreet.com or call 1-866-705-5711. This number should be entered in the block with the applicant's name and address on the cover page of the application (Item 8c on the Form SF 424, Application for Federal Assistance). The name and address in the application should be exactly as given for the DUNS number. Applicants should obtain this DUNS number as soon as possible after the announcement is posted to ensure all registration steps are completed in time. Authorized Organizational Representative: The Authorized Organizational Representative (AOR) who will officially submit an application on behalf of the organization must register with Grants.gov for a username and password. AORs must complete a profile with Grants.gov using their organizations DUNS Number to obtain their username and password, at http://grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp. AORs must wait one business day after registration in SAM before entering their profiles in Grants.gov. Applicants should complete this process as soon as possible after successful registration in SAM to ensure this step is completed in time to apply before application deadlines. When an AOR registers with Grants.gov to submit applications on behalf of an organization, that organizations E-Biz point-of-contact will receive an e-mail notification. The e-mail address provided in the profile will be the e-mail used to send the notification from Grants.gov to the E-Biz POC with the AOR copied on the correspondence. The E-Biz POC must then login to Grants.gov (using the organizations DUNS number for the username and the special password called M-PIN) and approve the AOR, thereby providing permission to submit applications. Any files uploaded or attached to the Grants.Gov application must be PDF file format and must contain a valid file format extension in the filename. Even though Grants.gov allows applicants to attach any file format as part of their application, CMS restricts this practice and only accepts PDF file formats. Any file submitted as part of the Grants.gov application that is not in a PDF file format, or contains password protection, will not be accepted for processing and will be excluded from the application during the review process. In addition, the use of compressed file formats such as ZIP, RAR, or Adobe Portfolio will not be accepted. The application must be submitted in a file format that can easily be copied and read by reviewers. It is recommended that scanned copies not be submitted through Grants.gov unless the applicant confirms the clarity of the documents. Pages cannot be reduced in size, resulting in multiple pages on a single sheet, to avoid exceeding the page limitation. All documents that do not conform to the above constraints will be excluded from the application materials during the review process. After you electronically submit your application, you will receive an automatic email from <http://www.grants.gov> that contains a Grants.gov tracking number. Please be aware that this notice does not guarantee that the application will be accepted by Grants.gov. Rather, this email is only an acknowledgement of receipt of the application by Grants.gov. All applications must be validated by Grants.gov before they will be accepted. Please note, applicants may incur a time delay before they receive acknowledgement that the application has been validated and accepted by the Grants.gov system. In some cases, the validation process could take up to 48 hours. If for some reason the application is not accepted, then the applicant will receive a subsequent notice from Grants.gov indicating that the application submission has been rejected. Applicants should not wait until the application deadline to apply because notification by Grants.gov that the application is incomplete may not be received until close to or after the application deadline, eliminating the opportunity to correct errors and resubmit the application. Applications submitted after the deadline because the original submission failed validation and is therefore rejected by Grants.gov, as a result of errors on the part of the applicant, will not be accepted by CMS and/or granted a waiver. For this reason, CMS recommends that applicants apply in advance of the application due date and time. After HHS retrieves your application package from Grants.gov, a return receipt will be e-mailed to the applicant contact. This will be in addition to the validation number provided by <http://www.grants.gov>. Each year organizations and entities registered to apply for Federal grants and cooperative agreements through <http://www.grants.gov> will need to renew their registration with the System for Award Management (SAM). You can register with SAM online; registration will take about 30 minutes to complete (<https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM/>). Failure to renew SAM registration prior to application submission will prevent an applicant from successfully applying via Grants.gov. Similarly, failure to maintain an active SAM registration during the application review process can prevent HHS from issuing your agency an award under this program. Applications cannot be accepted through any email address. Full applications can only be accepted through <http://www.grants.gov>. Full applications cannot be received via paper mail, courier, or delivery service. All applications for the awards must be submitted electronically and be received through <http://www.grants.gov> by the deadlines listed below. All applications will receive an automatic time stamp upon submission and state applicants will receive an e-mail reply acknowledging the applications receipt. Please be aware of the following: 1) Search for the application package in Grants.gov by entering the CFDA number. This number is shown on the cover page of this announcement. 2) If you experience technical challenges while submitting your application electronically, please contact Grants.gov Support directly at: www.grants.gov/customersupport or (800) 518-4726. Customer Support is available to address questions 24 hours a day, 7 days a week (except on Federal holidays). 3) Upon contacting Grants.gov, obtain a tracking number as proof of contact. The tracking number is helpful if there are technical issues that cannot be resolved. To be considered timely, applications must be received by the published deadline date. However, a general extension of a published application deadline that affects all state applicants or only those in a defined geographical area may be authorized by circumstances that affect the public at large, such as natural disasters (e.g., floods or hurricanes) or disruptions of electronic (e.g., application receipt services) or other services, such as a prolonged blackout. Grants.gov complies with Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. If an individual uses assistive technology and is unable to access any material on the site, including forms contained with an application package, he or she can e-mail the Grants.gov contact center at support@grants.gov for help, or call 1-800-518-4726. Each application must include all contents described below, in the order indicated, and in conformance with the following specifications: Use 8.5 x 11 letter-size pages with 1 margins (top, bottom, and sides). Other paper sizes will not be accepted. This is particularly important because it is often not possible to reproduce copies in a size other than 8.5 x 11. All pages of the project narrative must be paginated in a single sequence. Font size must be 12-point with an average character density no greater than 14 characters per inch. The budget and project narrative portions of the application must be double-spaced. The project abstract is restricted to a one-page summary, which can be single-spaced. Applications and attached proposals must not be more than 55 pages in length for Model Test awards, and no more than 27 pages for Model Design awards. For Model Test applications this total includes the project narrative, budget narrative, financial analysis, and operational plan. For Model Design, this total includes the project narrative, budget narrative, financial analysis, and operational plan. The maximum page limit includes all supporting materials, including documentation related to financial projections, profiles of participating organizations, etc. In addition, states should submit letters of support from other payers and stakeholders. The standard forms, project abstract, Governors letter of endorsement, and attestations of support from other payers and stakeholders are NOT included in the page limits. The state must ensure that its submission meets the technical requirements outlined above. Failure to adhere to these technical requirements may exclude an application from consideration for a cooperative award. The following standard forms must be completed with an electronic signature and enclosed as part of the proposal. Failure to submit these forms will result in the application not being reviewed: a. SF 424: Official Application for Federal Assistance (see note below) b. SF 424A: Budget Information Non-Construction c. SF 424B: Assurances-Non-Construction Programs d. SF LLL: Disclosure of Lobbying Activities All applicants must submit this document. If your agency does not engage in lobbying, please insert Non-Applicable on the document and include the required Authorized Organizational Representative (AOR) name, contact information, and signature. A letter from the Governor (or Mayor, if from the District of Columbia) endorsing the project and identifying the title of the project, the principal contact person and the major partners, departments, and organizations collaborating on the project. The letter (addressed as below) must be uploaded in the application. The abstract is often distributed to provide information to the public and Congress, so it must be written in a manner that it is clear, accurate, concise, and without reference to other parts of the application. Personal identifying information should be excluded from the abstract.

Award Procedure:

Successful applicants will receive a Notice of Award (NoA) signed and dated by the CMS Grants Management Officer. The NoA is the document authorizing the cooperative agreement award and will be sent through electronic mail to the applicant organization as listed on the SF424. Any communication between CMS and applicants prior to issuance of the NoA is not an authorization to begin performance of a project. Unsuccessful applicants are notified within 30 days of the final funding decision for each cooperative agreement and will receive a disapproval letter via the U.S. Postal Service and/or electronic mail.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Initial funding of Model Test and Model Design awards is contingent upon the states acceptance of the awards terms and conditions through the initial drawdown of funds and, in the case of Model Test awards, explicit CMS approval of an operational plan submitted by the state. States that received Model Design awards had twelve months from the award start date to complete their State Health System Innovation Plans and Model Designs. The project period and budget period for Model Design was one year, anticipated to be until December 31, 2015. See the following for information on how assistance is awarded/released: The 48-month project period for Round 2 Model Test is divided into four budget periods, with an initial budget period of twelve months for pre-implementation work followed by three budget periods of 12 months each. Following the initial twelve-month budget period, non-competing continuation awards have been/will be granted for each additional year of the cooperative agreement contingent upon availability of funding, state performance, and demonstrated progress towards the goals and objectives of this FOA. The anticipated test completion date for states receiving Model Test Round 2 awards is January 31, 2019. The specific period of performance for each state model will be included in the cooperative agreement and be executed upon the initial drawdown of funds by the recipient. Reports:

The Innovation Center takes an active and substantial role in the evaluation and monitoring of the SIM Model Test awards. The activities funded under the cooperative agreement and their resulting State responsibilities are part of performance tracking, measuring, and evaluation responsibilities of CMS and the Innovation Center. For Model Test states CMMI will examine the extent to which states plans are being implemented, whether health care spending in those states changed over time, and the impact on health care quality. Performance assessment, monitoring, and evaluation for Model Test awards focus on: impact on quality of care, patient experience, and health status Impact on health care costs Implementation and test performance, including: o Meeting proposed design and planning or implementation and test milestones. o Demonstrating readiness to carry out design and planning work or implementation activities required to test the proposed model. o Producing timely and accurate reports showing clear progress on design and planning activities or providing the required data, and/or reports on health care cost, quality, and population health performance, as delineated in the cooperative agreement. o Community integration of health care Awardees must agree to cooperate with any federal evaluation of the model and performance results and provide required quarterly, semi-annual (every six months), annual and final (at the end of the cooperative agreement period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS. Reports are submitted electronically and include information on how cooperative agreement funds were used, describe project or model progress, and describe any barriers, delays, and measurable outcomes. CMS provides the format for project and model reporting and technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. States must also agree to respond to requests that are necessary for the evaluation of their Model Test efforts and provide data on key elements of model performance and on results from the cooperative agreement activities. CMS will continue to make requests for data related to its evaluation beyond the end of the states performance period. The period for which CMS may continue to make such requests is further clarified in the terms and conditions of award. CMS has enlisted a third party entity to assist in evaluating the model implementation and testing performance results and outcomes. All awardees are required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or CMS contractor. The contractor assists CMS in developing cost, quality, beneficiary experience, and population health monitoring and review model performance to ensure model requirements are met; tracking performance across awardees and providing for monitoring and early detection of model performance issues; developing a system to collect, store, and analyze data to assess health care cost and utilization, quality performance, beneficiary experience, and population health improvements and assisting with state implementation, including coordination between states and CMS and its other contractors. Data for monitoring includes process, safety, and performance measures including beneficiary experience. It includes, but is not limited to, data on the background characteristics of the target population and target area, data characterizing the activities of the Model Test and a battery of follow-up data describing relevant characteristics of the target population or target area and metrics at selected intervals after commencement of the delivery system and/or payment model. This will include detailed information on participant characteristics and outcomes reported in a standard format. Data for monitoring is collected from awardees and/or CMS claims data, electronic health record, public health or other sources. The model monitoring aspect of this initiative balances the examination of the extent to which awardees demonstrate fidelity to their proposed delivery system and payment models and the potential need to make mid-course corrections that improve or optimize performance of the delivery system or payment models based on feedback from the monitoring and rapid cycle evaluation findings. The evaluation also assess whether there is evidence of harm or unintended consequences as a result of the models or testing methods. The evaluation strategy for this initiative includes an overall design and data collection phase and an impact evaluation. Broadly, CMS evaluates each state model and then compares all models to identify themes related to improved care and health outcomes and reduced costs. CMS has ultimate responsibility for the evaluation process and reports. An external evaluation contractor supports the Innovation Center during the Implementation and Test process. This Innovation Center evaluator works with each state to develop standards for data collection and use and for data reporting, as well as requirements for those data elements that will be collected by the states and reported to CMS. The Innovation Center evaluator also defines the measures to be used and evaluation methods to be employed. Data collection is central to the success of the evaluation. Adhering to the data collection requirements is a condition of participating in this initiative. States are expected to cooperate in the evaluation process and provide the necessary data to evaluate state models. This data is shared with the state evaluator team and with Innovation Center evaluation contractors. The evaluation relies on multi-pronged data collection in order to understand the context of the model and to capture the nuances occurring at the model sites. Data for the analyses is collected collaboratively between the Innovation Center evaluation contractor and the states themselves, and comes from sources including, but not limited to: provider surveys; Medicare administrative claims; state Medicaid and CHIP programs; beneficiary experience surveys; site visits with practices; and focus groups with beneficiaries and their families and caregivers, practice staff, direct support workers and others (e.g., payers). Additional data requirements may include states providing Medicaid encounter data (baseline and during the model test period) if relevant to program evaluation. The Innovation Center evaluation will assess the impact of the models on the quality of care, health outcomes, community health, and net saving in total costs. Towards the end of the Model Test, the Innovation Center evaluation contractor will conduct impact evaluations of the effectiveness of each state model on key outcomes for target Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP beneficiaries. This Innovation Centers impact evaluation should provide key messages about what types of state strategies are associated with success. Ultimately, the evaluation results will identify and characterize the most effective models to inform future policy making around improving beneficiary care, improving beneficiary health, and reducing costs. The State self-evaluation contractor creates State-specific evaluations relevant to all populations and payers involved in their SIM initiative; data collection, storage, cleaning and creation of analytic datasets; continuous quality improvement and analysis of evaluation metrics on a quarterly basis; and working with the Innovation Center evaluator to supply necessary data. The State self-evaluation contractor needs to be an independent entity. The goal is for states to continue these evaluations once the SIM initiative is complete. The States agreement with their evaluation contractor will be reviewed by CMS to ensure the evaluators capabilities. This State self-evaluation contractor will provide data to both CMS evaluators and the Innovation Center external evaluation contractor(s). . . The Federal Financial Report (FFR or Standard Form 425) has replaced the SF-269, SF-269A, SF-272, and SF-272A financial reporting forms. All grantees must utilize the FFR to report cash transaction data, expenditures, and any program income generated. States must report on a quarterly basis cash transaction data via the Payment Management System (PMS) using the FFR in lieu of completing a SF-272/SF272A. The FFR, containing cash transaction data, is due within 30 days after the end of each quarter. The quarterly reporting due dates are as follows: 4/30, 7/30, 10/30, 1/30. A Quick Reference Guide for completing the FFR in PMS is at: www.dpm.psc.gov/grant_recipient/guides_forms/ffr_quick_reference.aspx. In addition to submitting the quarterly FFR to PMS, states must also provide, on an annual basis, a FFR to CMS which includes their expenditures and any program income generated in lieu of completing a Financial Status Report (FSR) (SF269/269A). Expenditures and any program income generated should only be included on the annually submitted FFR, as well as the final FFR. Annual FFRs must be submitted within 90 calendar days of the applicable year end date. The final FFR must be submitted within 90 calendar days of the project period end date. More details are outlined in the Notice of Award. Awards issued under this FOA are subject to the reporting requirements of the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act of 2006 (Pub. L. 109282), as amended by section 6202 of Public Law 110252 and implemented by 2 CFR Part 170. Grant and cooperative agreement recipients must report information for each first-tier sub-award of $25,000 or more in Federal funds and executive total compensation for the recipients and sub-recipients five most highly compensated executives as outlined in Appendix A to 2 CFR Part 170 (available online at www.fars.gov). Non-Competing Continuation awardees may be subject to this requirement and will be so notified in the Notice of Award. States must submit a quarterly electronic SF-425 via the Payment Management System. The report identifies cash expenditures against the authorized funds for the cooperative agreement. Failure to submit the report may result in the inability to access funds.. CMS will enlist a third party entity to assist us in monitoring the model implementation and testing performance results and outcomes. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different state models, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. The contractor would assist CMS in developing a cost, quality, beneficiary experience, and population health monitoring and review model performance to ensure model design requirements are met; tracking performance across awardees and providing for rapid cycle evaluation and early detection of model performance issues; developing a system to collect, store, and analyze data to assess health care cost and utilization, quality performance, beneficiary experience, and population health improvements and assisting with state implementation, including coordination between states and CMS and its other contractors. Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. States must comply with the audit requirements of Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-133. Information on the scope, frequency, and other aspects of the audits can be found on the Internet at www.whitehouse.gov/omb/circulars. States must submit a quarterly electronic SF-425 via the Payment Management System. The report identifies cash expenditures against the authorized funds for the cooperative agreement. Failure to submit the report may result in the inability to access funds. Model Test: 11 Model Test cooperative agreements were awarded under this State Innovation Models initiative. Awards for Model Test states range from $20-100 million per state, based on the size of the state population and the scope of the proposal. The amount awarded will include any state cost of testing the model and meeting state and federal evaluation requirements as specified in Section V.3 below. While the Innovation Center is responsible for the evaluation of each Model Test, states must also develop their own model evaluation process, under the guidance of the Innovation Center. The state evaluations should include an examination of the models impact on the entire state population. In general, CMS expects that Model Test awards will cover only costs that are not normally part of a states operational cost, data collection cost, or administrative cost.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

Cooperative agreements issued under this FOA are subject to the Health and Human Services Grants Policy Statement (HHS GPS) at <http://www.hhs.gov/asfr/ogapa/aboutog/hhsgps107.pdf>. Standard terms and special terms of award will accompany the Notice of Award. Potential awardees should be aware that special requirements could apply to awards based on the particular circumstances of the effort to be supported and/or deficiencies identified in the application by the HHS review panel. The General Terms and Conditions that are outlined in Section II of the HHS GPS will apply as indicated unless there are statutory, regulatory, or award-specific requirements to the contrary (as specified in the Notice of Award). The following categories of special terms of award are in addition to, and not in lieu of, otherwise applicable OMB administrative guidelines, OMB cost principles at 2 CFR Part 225 (previously OMB Circular A-87), HHS grant administration regulations at 45 CFR Part 92 (Part 92 is applicable when state and local Governments are eligible to apply), and other HHS and PHS grant administration policies. CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Model Test applications will be reviewed by an expert review panel and scored based on the quality of the proposals. The SIM Round 2 Model Test criteria for selection are as follows: Model Test Plan (50 points) a. Model Test applicant must demonstrate the ability to test innovative payment reforms that have the potential to accelerate transformation. The elements of the Model Test plans will be evaluated on the following criteria: Well developed, detailed and clear annual cost and quality targets, which the state commits to review and report at least annually; Use of policy and regulatory state levers to support successful health care transformation in the state; Alignment with existing CMS programs and other state programs; Number of residents directly affected by the Model Test; Number of providers and payers participating in the Model Test; Likelihood of accelerating delivery system transformation; Development and use of health IT infrastructure (See Appendix 2: Health Information Technology Plan). b. As this initiative is intended to reach a preponderance of a states population, a states decision to expand Medicaid will be an important factor in assessing the states readiness to implement a state-wide plan for improving population health. Additionally, because Medicaid can serve as an important lever for driving delivery transformation, states should describe Medicaid expansion activities and the percentage of a states population covered by Medicaid. c. The Model Test must offer and clearly demonstrate a pathway to a high potential for success in producing better health, better care and lower costs through improvement for Medicare, Medicaid/CHIP, and Medicare-Medicaid enrollee populations as well as other health care consumers within the state. d. The model must describe in detail the target populations, geographic areas, or communities that will be the focus of Model Testing, the current quality and beneficiary experience outcomes including current health population status, and the specific improvement targets expected from the Model. e. The state must identify specific implementable plans to collaborate with the CDC to develop a state-wide plan for improving population health. The plans will include developing collaborative approaches to improving population health that engage public health officials and provider organizations. (See Appendix 1: Plan for Improving Population Health). f. The state must demonstrate engagement in HHS initiatives to improve health and health care delivery. g. Integrated data is used not only to directly support the implementation of health care interventions but also to inform and improve the model throughout the period of the award. The state must include a clear feedback loop and strategies for continuous monitoring and improvement of the model through collection and analysis of data across payers and partners. h. The state must identify strategies they will employ to leverage State Marketplace Exchanges to further advance value-based payment methodologies. Provider Engagement Strategy (10 Points) The state must demonstrate a clear, sustained commitment to participation and implementation of the health transformation model of major stakeholders including but not limited to advocacy groups, local governments, social service providers, and providers of acute health care, behavioral/mental health care, long term care (including home and community services as well as long term care facility services) in the state, including but not limited to state-owned entities, providers of acute health care, behavioral/mental health care, long term care (including home and community services as well as long-term care facility services). Payer and Other Stakeholder Strategy (10 Points) The state must also demonstrate participation on the part of commercial payers with respect to both financial and quality measurement alignment. The state should identify a broad group of stakeholders involved in the execution of the Model Test, including but not limited to advocacy groups, local governments and social service providers. Operational Plan (20 points) States must demonstrate the organizational and operational capacity, organizational structure, leadership and expertise to successfully implement Model Test processes. The detailed project plan and timeline should be well described and clearly demonstrate how the state will successfully lead health transformation in the state with resources provided. The project leadership must clearly demonstrate the required knowledge, skills, abilities and experience to ensure efficient, smooth and effective implementation. States must also include a sustainability plan for the next 4 years beyond the period of the award that includes changes in personnel or administration as well as a clearly detailed plan for continued financing to support sustained health reform/transformation after CMMI award funding is exhausted. Model Test Budget Narrative and Financial Analysis (10 points) The proposed budget is carefully developed, is consistent with the Model Test requirements, and is clearly linked to support of a successful implementation plan. Overhead and administrative costs are limited to 10% of direct costs with funding focused on direct support of the Model Test. States must indicate other specific resources that will aid in implementing the Model Test plan, including descriptions of how these resources directly support health transformation in the state. The proposal must document how the overall Financial Analysis, including population and intervention specific savings, will be developed, how return on investment will be calculated, and how the state will incorporate non-CMMI funding (particularly commitments from the multi-payer collaborators, including but not limited to other state and local government resources) into the overall health transformation plan. Based on scores from the Expert Panel Review, selected applicants will be invited to present in person (in the Baltimore/Washington Metropolitan area) to an HHS Leadership Panel (see Section I.4.A. Model Test: Proposal Requirements for more information). The HHS Leadership Panel members are individuals who possess knowledge or expertise in innovative health care payment and service delivery models. They will review the applications prior to the presentations, consult during the presentations, and subsequently provide advice to the approving official. The presentations will help to ensure that only those applications that offer the greatest potential for furthering program purposes are selected for funding. The presentations will include the information from the FOA but will also be expected to highlight the following: State and Stakeholder Commitment to States must demonstrate a commitment by a broad coalition of stakeholders, including state leadership, during the in-person presentation. The role and contribution of each stakeholder will be considered. Likelihood of Success to States must demonstrate that their specific approach, through the joint efforts of stakeholders, will be likely to result in achieve success by reducing costs, improving quality and promoting delivery system transformation. Novelty of Payment Model to State should demonstrate how their payment model presents a unique approach to delivery reform that would accelerate delivery transformation in a manner that has not been test on a state-wide scale. Ability to Align with Medicare Programs to States should articulate how their proposal would align with existing CMS programs. For example, a multi-payer ACO approach could complement and align with the Medicare Share Savings program. State could also demonstrate how this alignment will further delivery transformation and reduces costs and improve care for all-payers, including Medicare. Model Design applications will be reviewed and scored based on the quality of the proposals. In-person presentations are not required for the Model Design applicants. The criteria for Round 2 Model Design selection as follows: Model Design Strategy (30 points) States must demonstrate a clear process for designing a plan with the engagement of multiple components of state government and with key stakeholders. The design strategy should specifically identify the levers the state would seek to develop and incorporate into a comprehensive state plan, such as the states Medicaid program, state employee health plans, stated-owned academic medical centers, etc. States must explain the unique features of their design efforts and their strategy for designing a plan that aligns with existing CMS efforts and can be implemented on a multi-payer basis. States should demonstrate efforts to improve access to care to vulnerable populations. States should also include strategies that leverage State Marketplace Exchanges in expanding value-based payment methodologies. As this initiative is intended to reach a preponderance of a states population, a states decision to expand Medicaid will be an important factor in assessing its potential impact. Continuing Round 1 Model Design states must demonstrate progress in developing their design plans and clearly articulate how proposed strategies will enhance their Round 1 efforts. Provider Engagement Strategy (15 Points) States must demonstrate the commitment of major providers of health care in the state, including behavioral/mental health care, long term care providers and state-owned entities, behavioral/mental health care, long-term care, and long-term services and supports, to participate in the design of the State Health System Innovation Plan. Continuing Round 1 Model Design states must demonstrate appreciable progress to date in engaging providers. Payer and other Stakeholder Engagement Strategy (15 points) The state must describe its strategy for designing a State Health System Innovation Plan that includes multi-payer payment innovation and measure alignment. The design of these aspects of the plan must include the participation of commercial payers and purchasers as well as various stakeholders, including state health associations and advocacy groups. States are expected to identify a broad group of stakeholders and create a mechanism for their effective participation in planning of the State Health System Innovation Plan and document the development of a multi-payer Model Design with stakeholder input. Round 1 Model Design states must demonstrate results in engaging payers and other stakeholders. Operational Plan (10 points) The state must demonstrate the organizational capacity, organizational structure, leadership, and expertise to successfully complete the Model Design process. The project plan and timeline should be detailed and well described. The staff or consultants proposed to lead the planning effort should have the skills and experience needed to ensure smooth and effective implementation. Model Design Budget Narrative and Financial Analysis (30 points) The proposed budget is carefully developed and consistent with the Model Design requirements. Overhead and administrative costs are reasonable (limited to 10% of direct costs) with funding focused on supporting the Model Design effort. States should indicate other resources that will aid in designing the State Health System Innovation Plan. The proposal should document how the overall Financial Analysis, including population and intervention specific savings, will be developed. Part of the review process will include an analysis of the readiness of the state to complete the design process within one year after approval of a cooperative agreement award.

93.626 Affordable Care Act State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) and Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC) Options Counseling for Medicare-Medicaid Individuals in States with Approved Financial Alignment Models

SHIP and ADRC Options Counseling for Medicare-Medicaid Individuals in States with Approved Financial Alignment Models,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

This solicitation is being issued under section 1115A of the Social Security Act (added by section 3021 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (P.L. 111-148)), which authorizes the Innovation Center to test innovative payment and service delivery models to reduce program expenditures under Medicare, Medicaid, and the Childrens Health Insurance Program while preserving or enhancing the quality of care.

OBJECTIVES:

The goal of this Funding Opportunity is to provide funding over a three year period to states that have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with CMS to implement a CMS-approved State Financial Alignment Initiative. In April 2011, the Medicare-Medicaid Coordination Office awarded design contracts to 15 states to implement State Demonstrations to Integrate Care for Medicare-Medicaid Individuals. Subsequently, CMS released a letter to State Medicaid Directors which discussed two models for integrating care and aligning financial incentives for Medicare and Medicaid as part of CMS Financial Alignment Initiative, a joint initiative of the Innovation Center and the Medicare Medicaid Coordination Office, under which States and CMS will collaborate to integrate care and financing for Medicare-Medicaid individuals. The Financial Alignment Initiative is a unique Federal-state partnership to test aligning the service delivery and financing of the Medicare and Medicaid programs to better serve Medicare-Medicaid individuals. As part of this effort, there is a need for strong beneficiary support education and outreach in each State that is implementing a Financial Alignment model, including options counseling for beneficiaries. Awardees will develop and implement a coordinated SHIP/ADRC strategy and action plan to provide beneficiaries who are eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid during both the Phase 1 Activities and Ongoing Activities of the program, as described in the funding opportunity announcement - with objective information and one-on-one counseling on the nature of the states Financial Alignment model. Such activities will include, but are not limited to, providing information and counseling as to how and when the project will be implemented, the options these dual eligible beneficiaries will have for receiving their Medicare and Medicaid services in their state, the appeal rights they will have under the model, and what they need to do to participate in the program. The SHIP/ADRC staff assigned to this project must be able to provide this information and counseling in a way that is easy for beneficiaries to understand and is culturally and linguistically appropriate. These activities must be carried out in a SHIP/ADRC. Also, the SHIP/ADRC should possess a basic understanding of all CMS approved State Financial Alignment Initiatives.

TCPI,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1115A of the Social Security Act (the Act), as added by 3021 of the Affordable Care Act, which authorizes the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Innovation (CMMI or the Innovation Center) to test innovative payment and service delivery models to reduce spending under Medicare, Medicaid, or CHIP, while preserving or enhancing the quality of care furnished to beneficiaries under those programs. The TCPI is a service delivery model that tests whether providing technical assistance in a specific complex adaptive manner will enable clinicians and their practices to rapidly transform the way they deliver care to patients, resulting in improved health outcomes and reduced costs. The authority for the TCPI model is section 1115A of the Social Security Act (the Act). Under section 1115A(d)(1) of the Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services may waive such requirements of Titles XI and XVIII and of sections 1902(a)(1), 1902(a)(13), and 1903(m)(2)(A)(iii) as may be necessary solely for purposes of carrying out section 1115A with respect to testing models described in section 1115A(b). For this model and consistent with this standard, the Secretary may consider issuing waivers of certain fraud and abuse provisions in sections 1128A, 1128B, and 1877 of the Act. Waivers are not being issued in this document; waivers, if any, would be set forth in separately issued documentation. Thus, notwithstanding any other provision of this Funding Opportunity Announcement, awardees and subawardees must comply with all applicable laws and regulations, except as explicitly provided in any such separately documented waiver issued pursuant to section 1115A(d)(1) specifically for the TCPI model. Any such waiver would apply solely to the TCPI model and could differ in scope or design from waivers granted for other programs or models.

OBJECTIVES:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

The Transforming Clinical Practice Initiative (TCPI) model will test whether a three-pronged approach to national technical assistance will enable large scale transformation of thousands of clinician practices to deliver better care and result in better health outcomes at lower costs. Practice Transformation Networks (PTN) formed by group practices, health care systems, and others that join together to serve as trusted partners to provide clinician practices with quality improvement (QI) expertise, best practices, coaching and help as they prepare and begin clinical and operational practice transformation. These organizations will collaboratively lead clinicians and practices through the TCPI phases of transformation, achieve the TCPI goals, and through adaptive redesign position these clinicians and their practices to be sustainable components of the changing care delivery system.

The funds shall be used to implement, manage toward results, and evaluate models that support system transformation toward higher quality care at lower costs. Award dollars cannot be used for specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the entire service delivery model proposal. Funds shall not be used to build or purchase health information technology or other information technology that exceed more than 10% of total costs of the applicants proposed budget. CMS will not fund proposals that replicate models that CMS is currently testing in other initiatives.

Reports:

CMS plans to continuously monitor PTN awardees for this model test through monthly, quarterly and annual reporting requirements in order to ensure that milestones that they are responsible for achieving are met, and to ensure that technical assistance and recruitment activities are being conducted in a manner that is effective, as well as equitable toward and inclusive of CMS beneficiaries and the medically underserved. This will include quarterly monitoring trends in a PTNs recruited clinicians and their practices characteristics, as well as utilization patterns for populations served by PTN participants. We will be requiring regular aggregate reporting of practice population characteristics, attrition and accretion, and utilization stratified by the payer categories: Medicare, Medicaid, CHIP, commercial, and other, in order to monitor equity in both composition and impact of services. Doing so will also allow us to estimate cost savings by payer category. These data would be reported by the PTN on a monthly basis, and will also be used to assess savings impacts for the model over time. In addition, we will use existing CMS data (Medicare fee for service claims data) and reporting systems (physician quality reporting and meaningful use program data) as part of our monitoring efforts, in order to minimize the reporting burden on practices participating in PTNs. The Federal Financial Report (FFR or Standard Form 425) has replaced the SF-269, SF-269A, SF-272, and SF-272A financial reporting forms. All grantees must utilize the FFR to report cash transaction data, expenditures, and any program income generated. Grantees must report on a quarterly basis cash transaction data via the Payment Management System (PMS) using the FFR in lieu of completing a SF-272/SF272A. The FFR, containing cash transaction data, is due within 30 days after the end of each quarter. The quarterly reporting due dates are as follows: 4/30, 7/30, 10/30, 1/30. A Quick Reference Guide for completing the FFR in PMS is at: www.dpm.psc.gov/grant_recipient/guides_forms/ffr_quick_reference.aspx. In addition to submitting the quarterly FFR to PMS, Grantees must also provide, on an annual basis, a report to be uploaded into GrantSolutions which includes their expenditures and any program income generated in lieu of completing a Financial Status Report (FSR) (SF269/269A). Expenditures and any program income generated should only be included on the annually submitted FFR, as well as the final FFR. Annual hard-copy FFRs should be mailed and received within 30 calendar days of the applicable year end date. The final FFR should be uploaded in GrantSolutions within 90 calendar days of the project period end date. More details will be outlined in the Notice of Award. Awardees must agree to cooperate with any Federal evaluation of the model and performance results and provide required quarterly, semi-annual (every six months), annual and final (at the end of the cooperative agreement period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS. In the implementation of TCPI, applicants will receive qualitative and quantitative data from their recruited practices. Applicants selected as PTNs will submit reports electronically. These reports will include how cooperative agreement funds were used, describe project or model progress, and describe any barriers, delays, and measurable outcomes. CMS will provide the format for project and model reporting and technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. Awardees must also agree to respond to requests that are necessary for the evaluation of the TCPI model and provide data on key elements of model performance and on results from the cooperative agreement activities. CMS will enlist a third party entity to assist CMS in monitoring the model implementation and testing performance results and outcomes. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different networks, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. The contractor would assist CMS in developing a cost, quality, and population health monitoring and review network performance to ensure requirements are met; tracking performance across awardees and providing for rapid cycle evaluation and early detection of performance problems; developing a system to collect, store, and analyze data to assess health care cost and utilization, quality performance, and population health improvements and assisting with awardee implementation, including coordination between awardees and CMS and its other contractors.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. In addition, we will use existing CMS data (Medicare fee for service claims data) and reporting systems (physician quality reporting and meaningful use program data) as part of our monitoring efforts, in order to minimize the reporting burden on practices participating in SANs. The Federal Financial Report (FFR or Standard Form 425) has replaced the SF-269, SF-269A, SF-272, and SF-272A financial reporting forms. All grantees must utilize the FFR to report cash transaction data, expenditures, and any program income generated. Grantees must report on a quarterly basis cash transaction data via the Payment Management System (PMS) using the FFR in lieu of completing a SF-272/SF272A. The FFR, containing cash transaction data, is due within 30 days after the end of each quarter. The quarterly reporting due dates are as follows: 4/30, 7/30, 10/30, 1/30. A Quick Reference Guide for completing the FFR in PMS is at:

www.dpm.psc.gov/grant_recipient/guides_forms/ffr_quick_reference.aspx. In addition to submitting the quarterly FFR to PMS, Grantees must also provide, on an annual basis, a report to be uploaded into GrantSolutions which includes their expenditures and any program income generated in lieu of completing a Financial Status Report (FSR) (SF269/269A). Expenditures and any program income generated should only be included on the annually submitted FFR, as well as the final FFR. Annual hard-copy FFRs should be mailed and received within 30 calendar days of the applicable year end date. The final FFR should be uploaded in GrantSolutions within 90 calendar days of the project period end date. More details will be outlined in the Notice of Award. Awardees must agree to cooperate with any Federal evaluation of the model and performance results and provide required quarterly, semi-annual (every six months), annual and final (at the end of the cooperative agreement period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS. In the implementation of TCPI, applicants will receive qualitative and quantitative data from their recruited practices. Applicants selected as SANs will submit reports electronically. These reports will include how cooperative agreement funds were used, describe project or model progress, and describe any barriers, delays, and measurable outcomes. CMS will provide the format for project and model reporting and technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. Awardees must also agree to respond to requests that are necessary for the evaluation of the TCPI model and provide data on key elements of model performance and on results from the cooperative agreement activities. CMS will enlist a third party entity to assist CMS in monitoring the model implementation and testing performance results and outcomes. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different networks, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. The contractor would assist CMS in developing a cost, quality, and population health monitoring and review network performance to ensure requirements are met; tracking performance across awardees and providing for rapid cycle evaluation and early detection of performance problems; developing a system to collect, store, and analyze data to assess health care cost and utilization, quality performance, and population health improvements and assisting with awardee implementation, including coordination between awardees and CMS and its other contractors.

93.646 ACA Testing a Model of Data Aggregation under the Comprehensive Primary Care initiative

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1115a of the Social Security Act, as added by Section 3021 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), authorizes the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI or the Innovation Center) to test innovative payment and service delivery models to reduce spending under Medicare, Medicaid, or CHIP, while preserving or enhancing the quality of care furnished to beneficiaries under those programs.

OBJECTIVES:

The Comprehensive Primary Care (CPC) initiative is a multi-payer initiative fostering collaboration between public and private health insurance companies (payers) to strengthen primary care. Recognizing that the impact of any one payer alone is limited, the payers in CPC have committed to establishing an approach that is coordinated with that of the Innovation Center to transform the way in which primary care is practiced and financially supported. In May-July 2012, the Innovation Center executed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with each participating payer. One of the stated goals in the MOU is improving the flow of cost and utilization data to CPC primary care practices to support practices in their efforts to improve outcomes through care coordination and quality improvement. The MOU described a collaboration by which each regional group of payers with CMS input would produce a written plan that outlines how participating payers will transition to a common approach for sharing data with participating primary care practices. The MOU defined this endeavor in the following way: . . . If an appropriately structured and protected multi-payer claims data system exists or can be created in [Market] to support a common approach for sharing data with participating primary care practices, the Innovation Center and [payer] will submit its data to the system. In order to improve care coordination and support practices to provide better patient care, payers have agreed to work together to improve data-sharing to practices. The goal of data aggregation is to combine patient-level cost and utilization data from all payers in a uniform and actionable format so that physicians can better coordinate care across their entire population. This data will help CPC primary care practices deliver better care to their patients by providing information to support their efforts to improve care outcomes through care coordination and quality improvement. CPC practices have been asking for this data to be aggregated for their practice rather than to receive it individually from each payer, which has been cumbersome and less useful for them in managing the health of their patients. Payers in four CPC regions have been delivering data in this format, but Medicare data has not to date been included. The purpose of this program is to support vendors in four CPC regions to combine Medicare claims data with claims data from other commercial payers in each respective region and create actionable feedback reports for practices to improve care coordination and population health, and decrease costs. The end-users of this aggregated data are the CPC practices; including Medicare data in this demonstration is central to the stated goal of improving care coordination by providing actionable data to primary care practices. We are proposing to add Medicare data in CPC regions with existing multi-payer databases to test a model of data aggregation within the CPC initiative to better understand how Medicare data may be incorporated and used by practices to improve care coordination and quality improvement. The activities funded by these cooperative agreements are projected to run for the duration of the CPC initiative, currently scheduled to end December 31, 2016. Specifically, these cooperative agreements are intended for vendors in four CPC regions: Taconic Health Information Network Community (THINC) in the Capital-District Hudson Valley region of New York; The Health Collaborative in the Cincinnati-Dayton region of southwestern Ohio and northern Kentucky; MyHealth in the greater Tulsa region of Oklahoma; and Rise Health in Colorado. The CPC payers in each region have selected the vendors listed above as their data aggregation vendors and have asked CMS to provide Medicare data to these vendors to be included in these existing multi-payer databases. Each group of regional payers is structuring their data aggregation system independently (i.e. these efforts are not connected across regions). Each group of regional payers has already entered into contractual relationships with their respective vendors. The data aggregation vendors, the intended awardees for these cooperative agreements, are establishing multi-payer claims databases specific to the payer data for the CPC practices in their geographic region. CMS participation in the data aggregation initiative will pay for Medicare data to be incorporated into the multi-payer databases serving CPC practices in each respective region (New York, Ohio/Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Colorado).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

93.650 Accountable Health Communities

AHC,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

Section 1115A of the Social Security Act (the Act), as amended by section 3021 of the Affordable Care Act (ACA), authorizes the Innovation Center to test innovative payment and service delivery models to reduce Medicare, Medicaid, or CHIP expenditures, while preserving or enhancing the quality of beneficiaries care. The AHC is a service delivery model under section 1115A that tests whether systematic screening for health-related social needs in clinical settings, along with referral to community resources and navigation services, impacts overall health care cost and utilization.

OBJECTIVES:

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (the Innovation Center), will assess whether systematically identifying the health-related social needs of community-dwelling Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries, including those who are dually eligible, and addressing their identified needs impacts those beneficiaries total health care costs and their inpatient and outpatient utilization. Section 3021 of the ACA authorizes the Innovation Center to design, implement and evaluate innovative payment and service delivery models to improve quality and reduce costs. Rigorous evaluation requirements of the models impact influence model design parameters. The Accountable Health Communities (AHC) Model is based on emerging evidence that addressing health-related social needs through enhanced clinical-community linkages can improve health outcomes and reduce costs. This model will support community collaboration to systematically: (1) screen beneficiaries to identify unmet health-related social needs; (2) refer beneficiaries to increase awareness of community services; (3) provide person-centered navigation services to assist beneficiaries with accessing community services; and (4) align clinical and community services to ensure that community services are available and responsive to the needs of beneficiaries. The expectation is that these efforts will lead to a reduction in health care utilization and costs. The funding opportunity announcement (FOA) offered three interventions of varying intensity (each referred to as a track) to better link beneficiaries to community services: the Assistance Track Intervention, the Alignment Track Intervention or a third opportunity called the Awareness Track. The Awareness Track opportunity has subsequently been withdrawn. The Assistance Track Intervention will test whether assisting beneficiaries with accessing services through community service navigation impacts total health care cost and inpatient and outpatient health care utilization. This intervention offers universal screening of health-related social needs, use of a community resource inventory to connect beneficiaries to available community services, identification of high-risk beneficiaries as part of a smarter spending strategy to target additional resources where they are needed the most, and community service navigation to assist high risk beneficiaries with resolving health-related social needs. The Alignment Track Intervention builds on the intervention of the Assistance Track and tests whether a combination of navigation services at the individual beneficiary level and partner alignment at the community level impacts ED visits and inpatient hospital admissions. This approach recognizes that there are significant barriers to effective integration of the health care delivery systems, governmental public health systems, and the community-based service system due to different cultures, funding streams and data systems. Effective and responsive infrastructures are needed to ensure that community services are available and address the health-related social needs of beneficiaries. This intervention incorporates innovations included in the Assistance Track and adds structural and financial support designed to foster community-wide realignment of resources to more effectively address beneficiaries health-related social needs. Successful applicants were selected to participate in a single track for a 5-year period. Although tracks share common design elements, each tracks intervention pathway and underlying hypothesis is distinct.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The FOA provided three different funding opportunities; eligible entities applied for awards in the Assistance Track, Alignment Track, or a third opportunity called the Awareness Track. The Awareness Track opportunity has subsequently been withdrawn. The Assistance Track Intervention, through a randomized design, will test whether assisting beneficiaries with accessing community services through community service navigation impacts total health care costs and inpatient and outpatient health care utilization. These cooperative agreements will support systematic screening and referral and community service navigation. Funding for the Assistance Track will support the required work to implement this intervention. CMMI expects successful applicants to: (1) offer to systematically screen all community-dwelling Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries for health-related social needs; (2) prepare a community referral summary for each beneficiary with a health-related social need and a minimum number of ED visits that addresses the health-related social needs identified through the screening tool; (3) review the community referral summary with each beneficiary with an identified health-related social need; (4) distribute a copy of the community referral summary to each beneficiary with an identified health-related social need; (5) identify high-risk beneficiaries with health-related social needs based on ED utilization history; and (6) provide community service navigation services to high-risk beneficiaries in the intervention group, including an in-depth personal interview, development of a person-centered action plan and follow-up to address health-related social needs. The Alignment Track Intervention determines whether a combination of referrals to community service providers and community service navigation at the individual beneficiary level and partner alignment at the community level impacts total health care costs and inpatient and outpatient health care utilization. These cooperative agreements will support: systematic screening and referral; community service navigation; and partner alignment. Funding for the Alignment Track will support the required work to implement this intervention. CMMI expects successful applicants to: (1) offer to systematically screen all community-dwelling Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries for health-related social needs; (2) prepare a community referral summary for each beneficiary that addresses the health-related social needs identified through the screening tool; (3) review the community referral summary with each beneficiary with an identified health-related social need and a minimum number of ED visits; (4) distribute a copy of the community referral summary to each beneficiary with an identified health-related social need; (5) identify high-risk beneficiaries with health-related social needs based on ED utilization history; (6) provide community service navigation services to high-risk beneficiaries in the intervention group, including an in-depth personal interview, development of a person-centered action plan and follow-up to address health-related social needs; and (7) implement a community-level quality improvement approach whereby the award recipient delineates a geographic target area and assumes certain integrator functions, including convening and working with an Advisory Board, collecting data and using those data to conduct gap analyses, and developing quality improvement plans to inform community decision-making and coordination between clinical delivery sites, community service providers, local government and other partners such as MA plans and MCOs that cover community-dwelling beneficiaries in the geographic target area. Allowable costs associated with the AHC intervention include: -Data collection (including at the clinical delivery sites), analysis, and reporting cost associated with program performance and continuous quality improvement; -Coordination with CMS rapid cycle evaluation, and costs for collecting and preparing data for CMS evaluator; -Staff resources associated with model management and project management, including travel to AHC workshops and conferences; -Intervention service delivery costs; -Tracking system for collecting and reporting metrics required by CMS; -Infrastructure costs related to providing: systematic screening and referrals, community service navigation, and partner alignment (Alignment); -Model beneficiary assignment or reconciliation costs; -Web and internet collaborative learning and communication costs; -Project management and reporting costs; -Business operations associated with the model; and -Model management and administration for consortia and clinical delivery site relationships. CMS will not fund proposals that duplicate models for populations that are already being funded and tested as part of other CMS or federal government initiatives. CMS will not pay directly for community service provision (e.g., housing, food, violence intervention programs, and transportation) through the AHC Model. Rather, award money will fund systems change interventions to connect beneficiaries with available community services. Costs that are not over and above financing provided for existing Medicaid State plans or waivers series will not be considered. No cooperative agreement funds awarded under this solicitation may be used to reimburse pre-award costs. Prohibited Uses of Cooperative Agreement funds also include the use of funds to: -Match any other federal funds; -Provide services, equipment, or support that are the legal responsibility of another party under Federal or state law or under any civil rights laws; -Supplant existing federal, state, local, or private funding of infrastructure or services; -Pay for the use of specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the proposed AHC intervention; and -Lobby or advocate for changes in federal and/or state law. Terms and Conditions: Cooperative agreements issued under this FOA are subject to the Department of Health and Human Services Grants Policy Statement (HHS GPS) at <http://www.hhs.gov/asfr/ogapa/aboutog/hhsgps107.pdf>. The standard terms and conditions in the HHS GPS will apply as indicated unless there are statutory, regulatory, or award-specific requirements to the contrary. Standard and program specific terms of award will accompany the Notice of Award. Potential applicants should be aware that special requirements could apply to cooperative agreement awards based on the particular circumstances of the effort to be supported and/or deficiencies identified in the application by the CMS review panel. The recently released Uniform Guidance (2 CFR Part 200) and HHS regulations (45 CFR Part 75) supersedes information on administrative requirements, cost principles, and audit requirements for grants and cooperative agreements included in the current HHS Grants Policy Statement where differences are identified. Awardees must also agree to respond to requests, from CMS that are necessary for the evaluation of national efforts and provide data on core elements of their own cooperative agreement activities. Cooperative Agreement (Special) Terms and Conditions of Award: The following categories of special terms of award are in addition to, and not in lieu of, otherwise applicable HHS grant administration policies. CMS reserves the right to include any of these in the cooperative agreement with an appropriate level of specific details, some of which are provided below: -Reporting (financial, quality, progress) -Learning and Diffusion (training) -Stakeholders (public notice, tribal consultation) -Beneficiaries (related to AHC services) -Providers (training related to AHC) -Project monitoring -Data collection -Evaluation -Termination -Funding -Financial arrangements -Operations -Program Integrity. CMS will not fund proposals that duplicate models for populations that are already being funded and/or tested as part of other CMS or federal government initiatives. CMS will not pay directly for community service provision (e.g., housing, food, violence intervention programs, and transportation) through the AHC Model. Rather, award money will fund systems change interventions to connect beneficiaries with community services. Costs that are not over and above financing provided for existing Medicaid State plans or waivers series will not be considered. No cooperative agreement funds awarded under this solicitation may be used to reimburse pre-award costs. Prohibited Uses of Cooperative Agreement funds also include the use of funds to: -Match any other federal funds; -Provide services, equipment, or support that are the legal responsibility of another party under Federal or state law or under any civil rights laws; -Supplant existing federal, state, local, or private funding of infrastructure or services; -Pay for the use of specific components, devices, equipment, or personnel that are not integrated into the proposed AHC intervention; and -Lobby or advocate for changes in federal and/or state law.

Applicant Eligibility:

institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; -Community based organizations-Individual and group provider practices-Hospitals and health systems-Institutions of Higher Education-Local government entities and tribal organization from all 50 states, United States territories, and the District of Columbia

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; U.S. Territories; State; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Potential applicants are limited to the eligible entities described in the sections above. Successful applicants will provide intervention services to community-dwelling Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries, including dually eligible beneficiaries. Community-dwelling beneficiaries include beneficiaries not residing in a correctional facility or long-term care institution (e.g., long stay nursing homes) when accessing clinical care at a participating clinical delivery site. The application will describe the target populations, geographic areas, and communities that will be the focus of the AHC intervention, the current quality and beneficiary experience outcomes, including current needs assessments of health-related social needs, and specific targets to be impacted by the AHC intervention.

Credentials/Documentation:

Employer Identification Number: All applicants must have a valid Employer Identification Number (EIN) assigned by the Internal Revenue Service. Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS number): All applicants must have a Dun and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number in order to apply. The DUNS number is a nine-digit identification number that uniquely identifies business entities. Obtaining a DUNS number is free. To obtain a DUNS number, access the following website: www.dunandbradstreet.com or call 1-866-705-5711. See Section IV, Application and Submission Information, for more information on obtaining a DUNS number. System for Award Management (SAM) All applicants must register in the System for Award Management (SAM)* database (<https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM/>) in order to be able to submit an application at <http://www.grants.gov>. In order to register, applicants must provide their DUNS and EIN numbers. Each year, organizations and entities, registered to apply for Federal grants through Grants.gov must renew their registration with SAM. Each year organizations and entities must renew their registration with SAM. Failure to renew SAM registration prior to application submission will prevent an applicant from successfully applying via Grants.gov. Similarly, failure to maintain an active SAM registration during the application review process can prevent CMS from issuing your agency an award under this program. Applicants should begin the SAM registration process as soon as possible after the announcement is posted to ensure that it does not impair your ability to meet required submission deadlines. Applicants must successfully register with SAM prior to submitting an application or registering in the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act Sub-award Reporting System (FSRS) as a prime awardee user; awardees may make sub-awards only to entities that have DUNS numbers. Organizations must report executive compensation as part of the registration profile at <https://www.sam.gov/portal/public/SAM/> by the end of the month following the month in which this award is made, and annually thereafter (based on the reporting requirements of the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act (FFATA) of 2006 (Pub. L. 109-282), as amended by Section 6202 of Public Law 110-252 and implemented by 2 CFR Part 170). The Grants Management Specialist assigned to monitor the sub-award and executive compensation reporting requirements is Iris Grady, who can be reached at divisionofgrantsmanagement@cms.hhs.gov. *Applicants were previously required to register with the Central Contractor Registration (CCR). The CCR was a government-wide registry for organizations that sought to do business with the federal government. CCR collected, validated, stored, and disseminated data to support a variety of federal initiatives. This function is now fulfilled by SAM. SAM has integrated the CCR and will also incorporate seven other Federal procurement systems into a new, streamlined system. If an applicant had an active record in CCR prior to the rollout of SAM, an active record would be available in SAM. However, more than a year has passed since the rollout of SAM, so entities must ensure its registration with CCR (through SAM) is still active prior to applying under this funding opportunity. Please consult the SAM website listed above for additional information. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Letter of Intent to Apply: Required Application Materials: Application materials will be available for download at <http://www.grants.gov>. Please note that HHS requires applications for all announcements to be submitted electronically through <http://www.grants.gov>. For assistance with <http://www.grants.gov>, contact support@grants.gov or 1-800-518-4726. At Grants.gov, applicants will be able to download a copy of the application packet, complete it off-line, and then upload and submit the application via the Grants.gov website. Specific instructions for applications submitted via <http://www.grants.gov>: You may access the electronic application for this project at <http://www.grants.gov>. You must search the downloadable application page by the CFDA number. At the <http://www.grants.gov> website, you will find information about submitting an application electronically through the site, including the hours of operation. HHS strongly recommends that you do not wait until the application due date to begin the application process through <http://www.grants.gov> because of the time needed to complete the required registration steps. The applicant must be registered in the System for Award Management (SAM) database in order to be able to submit the application. Applicants are encouraged to register early, and must have their DUNS and EIN/TIN numbers in order to do so. Authorized Organizational Representative: The Authorized Organizational Representative (AOR) who will officially submit an application on behalf of the organization must register with grants.gov for a username and password. AORs must complete a profile with Grants.gov using their organizations DUNS Number to obtain their username and password at http://grants.gov/applicants/get_registered.jsp. AORs must wait one business day after successful registration in SAM before entering their profiles in Grants.gov. Applicants should complete this process as soon as possible after successful registration in SAM to ensure this step is completed in time to apply before application deadlines. When an AOR registers with Grants.gov to submit applications on behalf of an organization, that organizations E-Biz POC will receive an email notification. The email address provided in the profile will be the email used to send the notification from Grants.gov to the E-Biz POC with the AOR copied on the correspondence. The E-Biz POC must then login to Grants.gov (using the organizations DUNS number for the username and the special password called M-PIN) and approve the AOR, thereby providing permission to submit applications. Any files uploaded or attached to the Grants.gov application must be PDF file format and must contain a valid file format extension in the filename. Even though Grants.gov allows applicants to attach any file formats as part of their application, CMS restricts this practice and only accepts PDF file formats. Any file submitted as part of the Grants.gov application that is not in a PDF file format, or contains password protection, will not be accepted for processing and will be excluded from the application during the review process. In addition, the use of compressed file formats such as ZIP, RAR, or Adobe Portfolio will not be accepted. The application must be submitted in a file format that can easily be copied and read by reviewers. It is recommended that scanned copies not be submitted through Grants.gov unless the applicant confirms the clarity of the documents. Pages cannot be reduced in size, resulting in multiple pages on a single sheet, to avoid exceeding the page limitation. All documents that do not conform to the above specifications will be excluded from the application materials during the review process. After you electronically submit your application, you will receive an acknowledgement from Grants.gov that contains a Grants.gov tracking number. CMS will retrieve your application package from Grants.gov. Please note that applicants may incur a time delay before they receive acknowledgement that the application has been accepted by the Grants.gov system. Applicants should not wait until the application deadline to apply because notification by Grants.gov that the application is incomplete may not be received until close to or after the application deadline, eliminating the opportunity to correct errors and resubmit the application. Applications submitted after the deadline, as a result of errors on the part of the applicant, will not be accepted. After CMS retrieves your application package from Grants.gov, a return receipt will be emailed to the applicant contact. This will be in addition to the validation number provided by Grants.gov. Applications cannot be accepted through any email address. Full applications can only be accepted through <http://www.grants.gov>. Full applications cannot be received via paper mail, courier, or delivery service. All grant applications must be submitted electronically and be received through <http://www.grants.gov> by 1:00 pm Eastern Daylight Time on the applicable due date. Applications not successfully submitted to Grants.gov by the due date and time will not be eligible for review. All applications will receive an automatic time stamp upon submission and applicants will receive an email reply acknowledging the applications receipt. Please be aware of the following: 1) Search for the application package in Grants.gov by entering the CFDA number. This number is shown on the cover page of this announcement. 2) If you experience technical challenges while submitting your application electronically, please contact Grants.gov Support directly at: www.grants.gov/customersupport or (800) 518-4726. Customer Support is available to address questions 24 hours a day, 7 days a week (except on Federal holidays). 3) Upon contacting Grants.gov, obtain a tracking number as proof of contact. The tracking number is helpful if there are technical issues that cannot be resolved. To be considered timely, applications must be received by the published deadline date. However, a general extension of a published application deadline that affects all State applicants or only those in a defined geographical area may be authorized by circumstances that affect the public at large, such as natural disasters (e.g., floods or hurricanes) or disruptions of electronic (e.g., application receipt services) or other services, such as a prolonged blackout. This statement does not apply to an individual entity having internet service problems. In order for there to be any consideration there must be an effect on the public at large. Grants.gov complies with Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. If an individual uses assistive technology and is unable to access any material on the site including forms contained within an application package, they can email the Grants.gov contact center at support@grants.gov or call 1-800-518-4726. Format Requirements for Applications: Each application must include all contents described below, in the order indicated, and conform to the following specifications: Use 8.5 x 11 letter-size pages (one side only) with 1 margins (top, bottom, and sides). Other paper sizes will not be accepted. This is particularly important because it is often not possible to reproduce copies in a size other than 8.5 x 11. All pages of the project and budget narratives must be paginated in a single sequence. Font size must be at least 12-point with an average of 14 characters per inch (CPI). The Project Narrative must be double-spaced. The Budget Narrative must be single-spaced and should follow the justifications and table formats provided in the FOA appendix. Sample Budget and Narrative Justifications. Tables included within any portion of the application must have a font size of at least 12-point with a 14 CPI and may be single spaced. Tables are counted towards the applicable page limits included in the FOA is restricted to a one-page summary which may be single-spaced. The following additional required documentation is excluded from the page limitations described in the FOA: Standard Forms, applicants copy of previously submitted Letter of Intent, Cover Letter, Project Abstract, Assessment of Program duplication and Implementation plan. The application is expected to address how the applicant will carry out the implementation and planning work required to meet AHC goals. The application must address application components for the intervention track the applicant is proposing to implement. Based on the advice of the review panel, the CMS selection official approved the selected application and issued a Notice of Award. Successful applicants received a Notice of Award (NoA) signed and dated by the CMS Grants Management Officer that set forth the amount of the award and other pertinent information. The award also included standard Terms and Conditions. Applicants should be aware that special requirements could apply to cooperative agreement awards based on the particular circumstances of the effort to be supported and/or deficiencies identified by the review panel.

Reports:

Requirements New awards issued under this funding opportunity announcement are subject to the reporting requirements of the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act of 2006 (Pub. L. 109282), as amended by section 6202 of Public Law 110252 and implemented by 2 CFR Part 170. Grant and Cooperative Agreement recipients must report information for each first-tier sub-award of $25,000 or more in Federal funds and executive total compensation for the recipients and sub-recipients five most highly compensated executives as outlined in Appendix A to 2 CFR Part 170 (available online at <https://www.fhrs.gov/>). As detailed above, award recipients must agree to cooperate with any federal evaluation of the model and performance results and provide required quarterly, semi-annual (every 6 months), annual and final (at the end of the 5 year performance period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS. Reports will be submitted electronically. These reports will include how cooperative agreement funds were used, describe project or model progress, and describe any barriers, delays, and measurable outcomes. CMS will provide the format for project or model reporting and technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. Successful applicants must also agree to respond to requests that are necessary for the evaluation of the Model Design, pre-testing assistance, or Model Testing efforts and provide data on key elements of model performance and on results from the cooperative agreement activities. As detailed above, Successful applicants must submit reports to Federal Funding Report and meet Payment Management System reporting requirements. CMS will enlist a third party entity to assist us in monitoring the model implementation and testing performance results and outcomes. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the AHC cooperative agreement recipients, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All award recipients will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. The contractor would assist CMS in developing a cost, quality, beneficiary experience, population health monitoring, and review model performance to ensure model design requirements are met; tracking performance across awardees and providing for rapid cycle evaluation and early detection of model performance issues; developing a system to collect, store, and analyze data to assess health care cost and utilization, quality performance, beneficiary experience, and population health improvements and assisting with state implementation, including coordination between states and CMS and its other contractors. Data for monitoring will include process, safety, and performance measures. It will include, but will not be limited to, data on the background characteristics of the target population and target area, data characterizing the activities of the model testing and a battery of follow-up data describing relevant characteristics of the target population or target area and metrics at selected intervals after commencement of the delivery system and/or payment model. This will include detailed information on participant characteristics and outcomes reported in a standard format. Data for monitoring will be collected from awardees and/or CMS claims data, electronic health records, public health data or other sources. The model monitoring aspect of this initiative will balance the examination of the extent to which awardees demonstrate fidelity to their proposed delivery system and payment models and the potential need to make mid-course corrections that improve or optimize performance of the delivery system or payment models based on feedback from the monitoring and rapid cycle evaluation findings. The evaluation will also assess whether there is evidence of harm or unintended consequences as a result of the models or testing methods. Payment Management Requirements States must submit a quarterly electronic SF-425 via the payment management system. The report identifies cash expenditures against the authorized funds for the cooperative agreement. Failure to submit the report may result in the inability to access funds. Reports:

The CMS Center for Clinical Standards and Quality and the CMS Innovation Center will take an active and substantial role in the management, implementation, evaluation, and monitoring of SAN awards. The activities funded under the cooperative agreement and their resulting recipient responsibilities will be part of performance tracking, measuring, and evaluation responsibilities of CMS. CMS will examine how the organizations that receive SAN funds used the money. Quality data will be collected from the SAN and reported to a CMS contractor on a quarterly basis, but should be maintained by the SAN with monthly results. The Federal Financial Report (FFR or Standard Form 425) has replaced the SF-269, SF-269A, SF-272, and SF-272A financial reporting forms. All grantees must utilize the FFR to report cash transaction data, expenditures, and any program income generated. Grantees must report on a quarterly basis cash transaction data via the Payment Management System (PMS) using the FFR in lieu of completing a SF-272/SF272A. The FFR, containing cash transaction data, is due within 30 days after the end of each quarter. The quarterly reporting due dates are as follows: 7/30, 10/30, 1/30, 4/30. A Quick Reference Guide for completing the FFR in PMS is at: www.dpm.psc.gov/grant_recipient/guides_forms/ffr_quick_reference.aspx. In addition to submitting the quarterly FFR to PMS, Grantees must also provide, on an annual basis, a report to be uploaded into Grant Solutions which includes their expenditures and any program income generated in lieu of completing a Financial Status Report (FSR) (SF269/269A). Expenditures and any program income generated should only be included on the annually submitted FFR, as well as the final FFR. Annual hard-copy FFRs should be mailed and received within 30 calendar days of the applicable year end date. The final FFR should be uploaded in Grants Solutions within 90 calendar days of the project period end date. Awardees must agree to cooperate with any Federal evaluation of the model and performance results and provide required monthly, quarterly, semi-annual (every six months), annual and final (at the end of the cooperative agreement period) reports in a form prescribed by CMS. Reports will be submitted electronically. These reports will include how cooperative agreement funds were used, describe project or model progress in transitioning clinicians to APMs, and describe any barriers, delays, and measurable outcomes. CMS will provide the format for project and model reporting and technical assistance necessary to complete required report forms. Awardees must also agree to respond to requests that are necessary for the evaluation of the Model Design and/or Model Testing efforts and provide data on key elements of model performance and on results from the cooperative agreement activities. Awardees must submit a quarterly electronic SF 425 via the Payment Management System. The report identifies cash expenditures against the authorized funds for the cooperative agreement. Failure to submit the report may result in the inability to access funds. CMS will enlist a third party entity to assist CMS in monitoring the SAN 2.0 performance results and outcomes. CMS plans to collect data elements to be part of monitoring for all of the different SANs, and these monitoring and surveillance elements will feed into the evaluation. All awardees will be required to cooperate in providing the necessary data elements to CMS or a CMS contractor. The contractor would assist CMS in developing appropriate monitoring protocols and tracking performance across awardees and providing for rapid cycle evaluation and early detection of model performance problems, including coordination between awardees and CMS and its other contractors. .

93.658 Foster Care Title IV-E

Title IV-E Foster Care,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Social Security Act, Title IV-E, Section 470, et seq., as amended.

OBJECTIVES:

The Title IV-E Foster Care program helps states, Indian tribes, tribal organizations and tribal consortia (tribes) to provide safe and stable out-of-home care for children under the jurisdiction of the state or tribal child welfare agency until the children are returned home safely, placed with adoptive families, or placed in other planned arrangements for permanency. The program provides funds to assist with the costs of foster care maintenance for eligible children; administrative costs to manage the program; and training for public agency staff, foster parents and eligible professional partner agency staff. In addition, $3 million is reserved for technical assistance and plan development/implementation grants to eligible tribes.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Formula grant funds may be used by the state or local (under state supervision) child welfare agency or by the tribal child welfare agency for Federal Financial Participation (FFP) in foster care maintenance payments on behalf of eligible children; for administrative and training costs; and for costs related to design, implement and operate a statewide data collection system. Funds may not be used for costs of social services such as those that provide counseling or treatment to ameliorate or remedy personal problems, behaviors, or home conditions for a child, the child's family, or the child's foster family. A state or tribe may receive FFP only if its title IV-E plan has been approved by the HHS Secretary. The HHS Secretary has also approved waivers under section 1130 of the Social Security Act to allow implementation of demonstration projects in a number of states and a tribe which involve cost neutral use of title IV-E foster care program funds for additional purposes as specified in approved terms and conditions for each project. Public Law 113-183 amended the program to require that, within one year of enactment (by September 29, 2015), title IV-E agencies develop policies and procedures to identify, document, and determine appropriate services for any child or youth in the placement, care or supervision of the title IV-E agency who is at-risk of becoming a sex trafficking victim or who is a sex trafficking victim. Plan development/implementation grants to tribes are one-time grants for projects lasting up to 24 months that are to be used to develop a plan to operate a title IV-E program for foster care, adoption assistance and kinship guardianship as specified under section 479B of title IV-E.

Applicant Eligibility:

93.699 State and National Tobacco Cessation Support Systems

Quitlines,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

, Title Public Health Service Act, Section 301 (a) of the Public Health Service Act, as amended.

OBJECTIVES:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (NCCDPHP), Office on Smoking and Health (OSH) announces the availability of funds (approximately $18 million) to support state quitline capacity, in order to respond to federal initiatives such as the National Tobacco Education Campaign. This program addresses the Healthy People 2020 focus area of tobacco use and the goal of reducing illness, disability, and death related to tobacco use and secondhand smoke exposure. Preventing tobacco use and helping tobacco users quit can improve the health and quality of life. People who stop smoking greatly reduce their risk of disease and premature death. Benefits are greater for people who stop at earlier ages, but quitting tobacco use is beneficial at any age. This Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) will be a new, two year cooperative agreement with a state and national component. For the State Component, states and territories will be funded to ensure quitline capacity so that all callers to the quitline, particularly during a national media campaign such as Tips campaign, are offered at least one coaching call, either immediately upon calling or by being re-contacted within two to three days. Additionally, states and territories will continue to expand the capacity of state tobacco control programs to implement evidence-based cessation interventions in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and Guam while also exploring new modalities for technology delivered cessation systems. For the National component, an organization will be funded to operate and promote a linguistically and culturally appropriate nationwide quitline service for smokers who predominantly speak Chinese (including Cantonese and Mandarin), Korean, and Vietnamese (CKV) languages. It is more efficient to provide an Asian-language quitline service on a national level, rather than relying on states to provide these services through their individual state quitlines. Successful execution of the strategies and activities of this NOFO will contribute to the following outcomes: Short-term (Optimized quitline intake, Increased coverage, barrier-free access and promotion of comprehensive cessation services, Increased implementation of evidence-based non-phone based cessation counseling modalities, Increased availability and awareness of age and culturally appropriate cessation services available in multiple modalities, Increased quitline referrals from health systems that predominately serve priority populations (ie Medicaid), Increased intention to quit); Intermediate (Increased assisted/evidence-based quit attempts including more emphasis on tobacco users ages 18-54, Increased use and reach of effective non-phone based modalities of cessation counseling, Decreased disparities in use of cessation services/treatments, Increased public partnerships to ensure availability of high quality cessation services); and Long-term (Increased cessation of all tobacco products as early in life as possible, Decreased tobacco use prevalence and consumption, Decreased disparities in tobacco cessation and tobacco use).

PHSA 3012(c)(5) states that the Secretary may not provide more than 50 percent of the capital and annual operating and maintenance funds required to create and maintain such a center, except in an instance of national economic conditions which would render this cost-share requirement detrimental to the program and upon notification to Congress as to the justification to waive the cost-share requirements. The Secretary has determined that there are national economic conditions which would render the 50 percent cost share requirement to be detrimental to the program and has provided such notification to Congress. Instead, the Secretary has structured a funding partnership between HHS and recipients, as indicated in the Program Announcement. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

PHSA 3012(c)(5), as added by ARRA, specifies that the Secretary may provide financial support to any regional center created under PHSA 3012(c) for a period not to exceed 4 years. 93.719 Advance Interoperable Health Information Technology Services to Support Health Information Exchange

FEDERAL AGENCY:

IMMED OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009, Division A, Title XIII, HITECH Act, Section 3013

OBJECTIVES:

The Advance Interoperable Health IT Services to Support Health Information Exchange Cooperative Agreement Program will leverage investments and lessons learned from the previous State Health Information Exchange Cooperative Agreement Program (State HIE Program) to rapidly build capacity for the interoperable exchange of health information across the entire care continuum both within and across states while moving toward nationwide interoperability. Grantees will seek to improve care coordination and enhance communication among both clinical and non-clinical care providers across the entire care continuum by: 1) Expanding the adoption of health information exchange technology tools, services, and policies that enable interoperable exchange; 2) Facilitating and enabling send, receive, find, and use capabilities to access health information from external sources and incorporate into care provider workflows; 3) Increase integration of health information in interoperable health IT to support care processes and decision making.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) uses funds remaining from the State HIE Program to increase the adoption and use of interoperable health IT tools and services to support the interoperable exchange of health information and enable send, receive, find, and use capabilities in a manner that is appropriate, secure, timely, and reliable for both senders and receivers. This FOA was a full and open competition with twelve (12) awards being made in the form of cooperative agreements to states and/or state designated entities (SDE) to continue under the same intent as the original State HIE Program of enabling nationwide health information exchange across the care continuum and improving care coordination and transitions of care. This FOA will allow grantees to leverage the existing operational HIE infrastructure to expand the use of interoperable exchange tools and services to improve transitions of care and care coordination, thus furthering federal, state, and/or community health reform efforts. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available in ARRA may be used by a state or local government, or any private entity, for any casino or other gambling establishment, aquarium, zoo, golf course, or swimming pool. (ARRA Sec. 1604).

Applicant Eligibility:

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Credentials/Documentation:

State governments and Qualified State-Designated Entities were eligible to apply. The program required a letter from the Governor establishing the Qualified State Designated Entity, where applicable. Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. The applicants match requirement is $1 for every $3 federal dollars. In other words, for every three dollars received in federal funding, the applicant must contribute at least one dollar in non-federal resources toward the programs total cost. For example, if $100,000 in federal funds is requested for the period of performance, then the minimum match requirement is $100,000/3 or $33,333. In this example the programs total cost would be $133,333. If the required non-federal share is not met by the grantee, ONC will disallow any unmatched federal dollars. Demonstration of this match will be shown in annual federal financial reports. In preparing the application budget, applicants should consider these cost-sharing requirements and account for a match on their best estimate of expenditures. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

93.728 ARRA - Strategic Health IT Advanced Research Projects (SHARP)

(SHARP).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

IMMED OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-5) (Recovery Act), Title XIII, Part A, Section 3011

OBJECTIVES:

To competitively-awarded cooperative agreements to establish Strategic Health IT Advanced Research Projects (SHARP). The awardees will conduct research focusing on where breakthrough advances are needed to address well-documented problems that have impeded adoption of health IT and to accelerate progress towards achieving nationwide meaningful use of health IT in support of a high-performing, learning health care system.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

ONC expects to award four cooperative agreements to support establishment of Strategic Health IT Advanced Research Projects (SHARP) sites for a project period of four years. Each such research site will have a two-part mission: (1) to implement a collaborative, interdisciplinary program of research addressing a specific focus area from the list provided below, addressing short-term as well as long-term challenges; and (2) to develop and implement a cooperative program between researchers, patient groups, health care providers, and other health IT sector stakeholders to transition the results of research into practice. Each site will focus on areas where breakthrough improvements are needed to address well-documented problems that have impeded adoption of health IT and thereby accelerate progress on the pathway towards achieving the goals outlined in the strategic plan for health IT developed by the National Coordinator pursuant to PHSA Section 3001(c)(3) as added by the Recovery Act, specifically including the nationwide achievement of meaningful use of health IT to achieve transformational improvement of the health care system. Each site will implement a collaborative, inter-disciplinary research program addressing one of the specific focus area(s) listed below. An eligible entity may, apply for funding in separate applications to establish more than one site, and thus it is possible a single eligible entity (institution) may receive more than one award under this program. Regardless of the total number of institutions funded to establish sites under this program, it is expected that the all of the awardees will collaborate with each other, as there will be numerous points of intersection among the sites' agendas. Within its focus (listed below) area, each site will carry out at least the following set of activities: Initially define and subsequently update or redefine on a yearly basis, the key issues and research challenges within their respective area(s) of focus. The research areas identified will be those that significantly address barriers and solutions to achieving widespread adoption and meaningful use of health IT. Projects to address the identified issues will be mapped to either a short-term (< 2 years) or long-term (4 years) timeframe. Because this is a cooperative agreement, recipients shall plan and allow for collaboration with ONC and other federal staff with relevant expertise as identified or approved by ONC in establishing and updating the definition of key issues and research challenges in the sites focus area; Conduct ambitious research addressing these key issues and challenges. This work will draw on the scientific methods and expertise of researchers and practitioners in diverse fields; Collect specific, uniform data about the research activities and track progress toward milestones; Facilitate practical and efficient processes that enable translation of research into health care and public health innovations, facilitating the transition of multidisciplinary research outcomes into new healthcare products and services both the short- and long-term; Partner with industry to rapidly transfer short term results of this research into health IT products; Publish and otherwise disseminate these research findings, preferably in open source journals that maximize the accessibility of this knowledge to the entire health IT community; Participate in an external evaluation; and Select desired, measurable outcomes specific to the chosen research issue and methods for attaining results. Research focus areas In no particular order, the four foci for research identified below will be addressed by this program. The areas have been assigned numbers for ease of reference. Appendix B provides further detail about each of these areas. 1. Security of Health Information Technology This research area addresses the challenges of developing security and risk mitigation policies and the technologies necessary to build and preserve the public trust as health IT systems become ubiquitous. This research area is responsive to paragraphs (1), (4), (5), and (6) of the PHSA 3011(a), as added by the Recovery Act, through the following activities: Promoting the development and implementation of health information technology solutions that will support the electronic exchange and use of health information in a secure, private manner; Promoting the development and implementation of technologies and best practices that enhance the protection of health information by all holders of individually identifiable health information; Enhancing the capabilities and functionalities of tools to support privacy and security of individually identifiable health information as it is exchanged and used; and, Supporting and enhancing the assurance of privacy needed providers and patients widespread acceptance of telemedicine and robust participation in clinical data repositories and registries. 2. Patient-Centered Cognitive Support This research area addresses the challenge of harnessing the power of health IT so that it integrates with, enhances and supports clinicians reasoning and decision making, rather than forcing them into a mode of thinking that is natural to machines but not to people. PHSA 3011(a), as added by the Recovery Act, directs the support of health IT architecture that will support the use of health information in an accurate manner. Additionally, paragraphs (3) and (5) of the same subsection of the statute authorize use of funding appropriated under PHSA Section 3018, as added by the Recovery Act, to disseminate training and information on best practices to integrate health IT into a providers delivery of care, and to promote the use of clinical data repositories and registries. All of these paragraphs ((1), (3), and (5) of PHSA 3011(a) as added by the Recovery Act) point to longstanding challenges that require new and creative research related to the accurate and effective use of electronic health information to enhance the safety, quality, efficacy, and thus the overall value of care. 3. Healthcare Application and Network Platform Architectures This research area focuses on the development of architectures that are necessary to achieve electronic exchange and use of health information in a secure, private and accurate manner. PHSA 3011(a)(1), as added by the Recovery Act, authorizes support of health IT architecture that will support the nationwide electronic exchange and use of health information in a secure, private, and accurate manner. This research focus specifically supports the development of new and improved architectures and technology infrastructure needed to achieve the goals outlined in the plan for health IT by the National Coordinator in support of PHSA 3001(c)(3), as added by the Recovery Act, and to support measures for determination of meaningful use of health IT by providers over time (required by Social Security Act (SSA) Sections 1848(o) and 1866(n), as added by Title IV in Division B of the Recovery Act). 4. Secondary Use of EHR Data This research area focuses on strategies to enhance the use of health IT in improving the overall quality of health care. PHSA 3011(a), as added by the Recovery Act, states that the Secretary shall invest in the infrastructure necessary to allow for and promote the electronic exchange and use of health information for each individual in the United States consistent with the goals outlined in the strategic plan developed by the National Coordinator. PHSA 3001(c)(3), as added by the Recovery Act, directs that the National Coordinator shall, in consultation with other appropriate Federal agencies (including the National Institute of Standards and Technology), update the Federal Health IT Strategic Plan (developed as of June 3, 2008) to include specific objectives, milestones, and metrics with respect to a specific set of topic areas. The current Federal Health IT Strategic Plan (developed as of June 3, 2008), as referenced in the statute, advances secondary use as a key mode of information technology use to transform health care. This is consistent with, and will be updated and expanded upon pursuant to the direction of PHSA 3001(c)(3)(i), (vii) and (viii), as added by the Recovery Act, to add to the updated strategic plan such objectives, milestones, and metrics with respect to: (Reference: PHSA 3001(c)(3)(i)) the electronic exchange and use of health information and the enterprise integration of such information. (Reference: PHSA 3001(c)(3)(vii)) strategies to enhance the use of health IT in improving the quality of health care, reducing medical errors, reducing health disparities improving public health, increasing prevention and coordination with community resources, and improving the continuity of care among health care settings. (Reference: PHSA 3001(c)(3)(viii)) the specific plans for ensuring that populations with unique needs, such as children, are appropriately addressed in the technology design, as appropriate.

93.739 PPHF: Chronic Disease Innovation Grants - financed solely by Public Prevention Health Funds

National Diabetes Prevention Program Evidence-Based Lifestyle Intervention to Prevent Type 2 Diabetes in Underserved Communities,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

This program is authorized under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010, 4201 (P.L. 111-148) and title IV Section 4002 of the Affordable Care Act (PPHF)

OBJECTIVES:

National Diabetes Prevention Program Evidence-Based Lifestyle Intervention to Prevent Type 2 Diabetes in Underserved Communities - The purpose of the program is to expand the National Diabetes Prevention Program, an evidence-based lifestyle change program in populations at high-risk for developing type 2 diabetes (African American; American Indian/Alaska Native; Hispanic/Latino, Low Social Economic Status; Women with a history of Gestational Diabetes). The CDC-led National Diabetes Prevention Program (National DPP) is a public-private partnership of community organizations, private insurers, employers, health care organizations, and government agencies working to deliver the type 2 diabetes prevention lifestyle change program. It is an innovative example of linking the community and clinical sectors to cost-effectively improve health outcomes. The National DPP is focused on aligning incentives since third-party payers reimburse for health outcomes. Economic studies indicate that lifestyle change programs (costing about $400 per person) are cost effective and even cost saving by reducing the cost of treating diabetes and its complications prevented by the program. These favorable costs are the result of employing a lower cost workforce, delivering the program in groups, and consistency in program content. The award recipients will be expected to develop, implement, market, and evaluate a comprehensive plan for scaling the National DPP lifestyle change program in select communities. The awardees will identify and engage organizations and/or employers that have capacity to offer the National DPP lifestyle change program and facilitate the establishment of the National DPP lifestyle change program, in collaboration with these organizations and/or employers. Awardees will also work with insurance companies to reimburse organizations offering the National DPP lifestyle change program through this cooperative agreement and work with employers and insurers to offer the National DPP lifestyle change program using pay for performance model. Also, they may work with employers to offer the National DPP lifestyle change program as a covered benefit for employees. The awardees will be expected to develop, implement and evaluate marketing and communications strategies to promote the National DPP lifestyle change program, educate health care providers about the program and encourage provider referrals to National DPP lifestyle change programs.

93.748 PPHF Cooperative Agreements for Prescription Drug Monitoring Program Electronic Health Record (EHR) Integration and Interoperability Expansion

PPHF-2012: PDMP EHR Integration and Interoperability (TI-12-011).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

SUBSTANCE ABUSE AND MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES ADMINISTRATION, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, DEPARTMENT OF
AUTHORIZATION:

PDMP EHR Integration and Interoperability cooperative agreements are authorized under Section 509 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended, and are financed by 2012 Prevention and Public Health Funds (PPHF-2012). This announcement addresses Healthy People 2020 Substance Abuse Topic Area HP 2020-SA.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of this program is to: 1) improve real-time access to PDMP data by integrating PDMPs into existing technologies like EHRs, in order to improve the ability of State PDMPs to reduce the nature, scope, and extent of prescription drug abuse; and 2) strengthen State PDMPs that are currently operational by providing resources to make the changes necessary to increase interoperability of State PDMPs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Applicants that have not yet established interoperability or integration of PDMP into EHR systems must propose implementation of both systems to improve the States ability to reduce prescription drug abuse. Applicants must have an existing PDMP or have an operational PDMP by September 30, 2012, in order to receive an award under this program. An operational PDMP is one that is collecting data and responding to authorized requests for reports. If you do not currently have an operational PDMP, you must submit an assurance in Attachment 2 of your application that you will have one by September 30, 2012. Applicants that do not have an operational PDMP by September 30, 2012, will not be considered for an award. Applicants that have already established interoperability with at least one State or have integrated their PDMP into an EHR system must propose expanding interoperability to multiple State PDMPs and improving real-time access to PDMP data by integrating PDMPs into existing technologies.

Applicant Eligibility:

U.S. Territories and possessions; State; Grant funds will enable States to integrate their PDMPs into EHR and other health information technology systems to expand utilization by increasing the production and distribution of unsolicited reports and alerts to prescribers and dispensers of prescription data. Grant funds will also be used by States to allow for modification of their systems to expand interoperability.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; State; Eligible applicants are the immediate office of the Chief Executive (e.g., Governor) in the 49 States and 1 U.S. territory (i.e., Guam) that have enacted legislation or regulations that permit the following: implementation of a State PDMP; imposition of appropriate penalties for the unauthorized use and disclosure of information maintained in the program; and ability to share PDMP data (de-identified or anonymized) with CDC for research purposes. Eligibility is limited to States/Territory with enacted PDMP legislation because only these States/Territory have the capability to collect the required information and make that information available to prescribers, dispensers, and under controls, other States. PDMPs that are not actively collecting information cannot link their systems to EHRs or share information with other State PDMPs. Due to State laws establishing PDMPs, privacy, confidentiality, security, and other limitations on PDMPs, PDMP EHR Integration and Interoperability grants are limited to State and applicable territorial government entities.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

Effective tobacco cessation treatments are available, including group, individual, and telephone counseling and FDA-approved cessation medications. However, less than one third of cigarette smokers use these treatments when trying to quit. Physician cessation interventions increase patient quit rates, but many physicians do not routinely intervene with their patients who use tobacco products. Population-based strategies that increase cessation include, but are not limited to, reducing out-of-pocket costs for evidence-based tobacco cessation treatments (i.e., ensuring that health insurance plans cover these treatments), provider reminder systems in health care settings (including reminders embedded in electronic health records) that prompt health care providers to screen for tobacco use and provide cessation advice, telephone quitlines, and mobile-phone based cessation texting interventions. CDC recommends that state tobacco control programs implement these effective population-based strategies for increasing cessation and put in place a comprehensive plan to address cessation. The Office on Smoking and Health has worked with several national organizations in providing information to state tobacco control programs and national and state partners on OSH's three major cessation priorities: enhancing state quitline capacity and sustainability, promoting comprehensive coverage of evidence-based tobacco cessation treatments in health
